literature to world literature World literature is marked by recurrent systematic features outcomes of the way that language and literature are at once the products of major change and its agents Cohen tracks these features from ancient times to the present distinguishing five main overlapping stages Within that framework he shows that European literatures ongoing internal and external relationships are most visible at the level of form rather than of thematic statement or mimetic representation European literature emerges from world literature before the birth of Europe during antiquity whose Classical languages are the heirs to the complex heritage of Afro Eurasia This legacy is later transmitted by Latin to the various vernaculars The uniqueness of the process lies in the gradual displacement of the learned language by the vernacular long dominated by Romance literatures That development subsequently informs the second crucial differentiating dimension of European literature the multicontinental expansion of its languages and characteristic genres especially the novel beginning in the Renaissance This expansion ultimately results in the reintegration of European literature into world literature and thus in the creation of todays global literary system The distinctiveness of European literature is to be found in these interrelated trajectories

Packard,2011-09-08 The Film Novelist is the first primer on writing film novels whether you are a beginning novelist a seasoned writer wanting to cross over into script novel writing or a creative writing teacher looking for proven ways to launch new writers So what is the difference between a screenplay and a film novel Screenplays indicate solely what the audience is to see or hear on screen Film novels are short and take about as long to read as a feature film takes to watch The description dialogue and narration of a film novel can simply be lifted out and used as the description dialogue and voice over narration for a script The author has devised a fifteen week program starting from a one sentence pitch to the novel itself which includes filming a scene from your script novel He grounds the discussion of early film novels like The Maltese Falcon Of Mice and Men and The Misfits to provide historical and theoretical background while detailing the practical sequential approach for completing a short novel and script

Stories and the Brain Paul B. Armstrong, 2020-05-26 This book explains how the brain interacts with the social world and why stories matter How do our brains enable us to tell and follow stories And how do stories affect our minds In Stories and the Brain Paul B Armstrong analyzes the cognitive processes involved in constructing and exchanging stories exploring their role in the neurobiology of mental functioning Armstrong argues that the ways in which stories order events in time imitate actions and relate our experiences to others lives are correlated to cortical processes of temporal binding the circuit between action and perception and the mirroring operations underlying embodied intersubjectivity He reveals how recent neuroscientific findings about how the brain works how it assembles neuronal syntheses without a central controller illuminate cognitive processes involving time action and self other relations that are central to narrative An extension of his previous book How Literature Plays with the Brain this new study applies Armstrong s analysis of the cognitive value of aesthetic harmony and dissonance to narrative Armstrong explains how narratives help the brain negotiate the neverending conflict between its need for pattern synthesis and constancy and its need for flexibility adaptability and openness to change The neuroscience of these interactions is part of the reason stories give shape to our lives even as our lives give rise to stories Taking up the age old question of what our ability to tell stories reveals about language and the mind this truly interdisciplinary project should be of interest to humanists and cognitive scientists alike
