

Thatcher's choice in the big Tory split

THATCHER, Threatened

By TERENCE LANCASTER
THE Tory Party is split on Falklands Islands policy with Premier Margaret Thatcher and Foreign Secretary Francis Pym on an opposite collision course.

A cry of "Sell-out" by a Conservative MP summed up the anguish of right-wingers when Mr Pym was speaking in the Commons last night.

His speech contrasted with a robust performance by Mrs Thatcher earlier in the day.

Her words to her Government's original guns accompanied when Argentina invaded the island, six weeks ago today.

But Mr Pym was in a more conciliatory mood. He set down as the end of his speech to almost total silence from the Tories—and cheers from Labour.

What is obvious is that in the negotiations at the United Nations, Britain is prepared to make more concessions than Mrs Thatcher admitted.

If those concessions are enough to buy off the Argentinians for the time being then Mrs Thatcher will be accused of a sell-out.

But there is only one alternative to a sell-out. It is rejection of the UN. And that is a dead end.

There was a warning in Westminster last night. Conservative MP Lord Cawston, a Tory, declared aloud how far Britain stood in the search for peace.

Former Premier Edward Heath, elected as far as the Falklands, suggested last night that a settlement from Argentina.

He indicated his former partners for suggesting that the Islanders could not vote any possible settlement.

Then he advised Mr Pym to ignore newspapers such as which said that our lives could not now be at risk.

A striking number of Tory MPs believe that the Government is ready for a Falklands showdown.

Mrs Thatcher said last night: "We are watching for a peaceful settlement—a peaceful settlement."
