United Nations World Prospects Report 20revision:

Global Health Solomon Benatar, Gillian Brock, 2021-02-18 Addressing global health is one of the largest challenges facing humanity in the 21st century however this task is becoming even more formidable with the accelerated destruction of the planet Building on the success of the previous edition the book outlines how progress towards improving global health relies on understanding its core social economic political environmental and ideological aspects A multi disciplinary group of authors suggest not only theoretically compelling arguments for what we must do but also provide practical recommendations as to how we can promote global health despite contemporary constraints The importance of cross cultural dialogue and utilisation of ethical tools in tackling global health problems is emphasised Thoroughly updated new or expanded topics include mass displacement of people novel threats including new infectious diseases global justice and ecological ethics and planetary sustainability Offering a diverse range of perspectives this volume is essential for bioethicists public health practitioners and philosophers

Development and Poverty Reduction Yongnian Zheng, Jiwei Qian, 2019-10-28 Although the absolute number of poor people in the world has declined significantly in recent decades poverty reduction continues to be a very important issue There still are very large numbers of poor people relative poverty is an increasingly concerning problem and progress on poverty reduction varies enormously from one part of the world to another Factors contributing to poverty reduction include economic growth economic integration and specific poverty reduction programs which are often initiated by Western countries This book considers poverty reduction from a global perspective Development and Poverty Reduction looks at a wide range of specific subjects across all continents It highlights in particular how the issues are perceived from a non Western perspective and especially how the rise of China is both having a profound impact on poverty reduction globally and also changing the overall way in which development and poverty reduction are approached Chapter 4 of this book is freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license

Planning for Resilient Small and Medium-Sized Cities in Ghana Stephen Kofi Diko, Seth Asare Okyere, Stephen Leonard Mensah, Louis Kusi Frimpong, 2025-09-10 Planning for Resilient Small and Medium Sized Cities in Ghana explores the resilience and planning dynamics and complexities of rapid urban transitions in Ghana s small and medium sized cities SMCs and their implications for Africa and the Global South The book argues that Ghana s urban future may have more to do with the steady growth of SMCs where urban consolidation is gradually taking a foothold Recognizing that Ghana s primary cities are well known to be socio ecological hotspots of risk reactive urban planning and entrenched inequalities of alarming proportions this book asks would SMCs follow these troubling realities and trajectories in large cities or leapfrog to resilient futures that work for all Through a range of interdisciplinary perspectives the contributions emphasize the need for integrated planning strategies to navigate socio ecological challenges and opportunities that SMCs face in terms of infrastructure governance and climate resilience By centering overlooked and understudied SMCs in Ghana's urban scholarship this book realigns resilience planning to the spaces and places emerging as the frontiers of socio ecological crises It will be of interest to students and researchers of city and regional planning urban studies geography environmental studies and science public policy development studies and public health as well as urban planners community development practitioners geographers environmental disaster and resilient personnel and policymakers

An Ethnographic Approach to Peacebuilding Gearoid Millar, 2014-04-24 This book aims to outline and promote an ethnographic approach to evaluating international peacebuilding interventions in transitional states While the evaluation of peacebuilding and transitional justice efforts has been a growing concern in recent years too often evaluations assess projects based on locally irrelevant measures reinforce the status quo distribution of power in transitional situations and uncritically accept the implicit conceptions of the funders planners and administrators of such projects This book argues that evaluating the effects of peacebuilding interventions demands an understanding of the local and culturally variable context of intervention Throughout the book the author draws on real world examples from extensive fieldwork in Sierra Leone to argue that local experiences should be considered the primary measure of a peacebuilding project s success An ethnographic approach recognizes diversity in conceptions of peace justice development and reconciliation and takes local approaches and local critiques of the international agenda seriously It can help to empower local actors hold the international peacebuilding industry accountable to its supposed beneficiaries and challenge the Western centric ideas of what peace entails and how peacebuilding is achieved This book will be of much interest to students and scholars of peacebuilding peace and conflict studies transitional justice African politics ethnography International Relations and security studies as well as practitioners working in the field
