Converging Clinical and Engineering Research on Neurorehabilitation III Lorenzo Masia, Silvestro Micera, Metin Akay, José L. Pons, 2018-10-15 The book reports on advanced topics in the areas of neurorehabilitation research and practice

It focuses on new methods for interfacing the human nervous system with electronic and mechatronic systems to restore or compensate impaired neural functions. Importantly, the book merges different perspectives such as the clinical neurophysiological and bioengineering ones to promote and encourage collaborations between clinicians, neuroscientists, and engineers. Based on the 2018 International Conference on Neurorehabilitation (ICNR 2018) held on October 16-20, 2018 in Pisa, Italy, this book covers various aspects of neurorehabilitation research and practice, including new insights into biomechanics, brain physiology, neuroplasticity, and brain damages and diseases, as well as innovative methods and technologies for studying and/or recovering brain function, from data mining to interface technologies and neuroprosthetics. In this way, it offers a concise yet comprehensive reference guide to neurosurgeons, rehabilitation physicians, neurologists, and bioengineers. Moreover, by highlighting current challenges in understanding brain diseases, as well as in the available technologies and their implementation, the book is also expected to foster new collaborations between the different groups, thus stimulating new ideas and research directions.

Human Factor and Reliability Analysis to Prevent Losses in Industrial Processes Salvador Avila Filho, Ivone Conceicao de Souza Cerqueira, Carine Nogueira Santino, 2022-03-23 Human reliability is an issue that is increasingly discussed in the process and manufacturing industries to check factors that influence operator performance and trigger errors. Human Factor and Reliability Analysis to Prevent Losses in Industrial Processes: An Operational Culture Perspective provides a multidisciplinary analysis of work concepts and environments to reduce human error and prevent material, energy, image, and time losses. The book presents a methodology for the quantification and investigation of human reliability and verification of the influence of human factors in the generation of process losses, consisting of the following steps: contextualization, data collection, and results performing task and loss observation, socio-technical variable analyses, and data processing. Investigating human reliability concepts and models in situations of human error in practice, the book identifies where low reliability occurs and then visualizes where and how to perform an intervention. This guide is an excellent resource for professionals in chemical, petrochemical, oil, and nuclear industries for managing and analyzing safety and loss risks, and for students in chemical and process engineering. Relates human reliability to the environment, leadership, decision models, possible mistakes, and successes, mental map constructions, and organizational cultures. Provides techniques for the diagnosis of human and operational reliability. Gives examples of the application of methodologies in the stage of diagnosis and program construction. Discusses competences for the analysis of process losses in industry. Investigates real-life situations where human errors cause losses. Includes practical examples and case studies.
