The modern American supermarket has, on average 47,000 products.

The reality behind how our food is produced is not a farm, but a factory.

In the 1930's the drive in was invented by the McDonald brothers.

We have never had food companies this big, and this Powerful in our histories.

To build one poultry house costs between 280,000 and 400,000.

A typical grower (not farmer) with two chicken houses has borrowed over 500,000 and earned 13,000.

A Cornucopia:

Most of our industrial food base is made from Corn.

CAFO stands for Concentrated animal feeding operations.

Unintended Consequences: Regulatory agencies are being controlled by the companies they are supposed to be scrutinizing.

There are 13 slaughter houses in the USA that process the majority of the beef.

Kevin's Law would give the USDA the power to shut down processing plants that repeatedly produce contaminated beef.

Beef filler is washed in Ammonia to kill e-coli bacteria.

The Dollar Menu:

The biggest determinant of obesity is income money.

One third of all Americans born after 2000 will contract early onset diabetes.

In The Grass:

The people who own the processing plants don't want others to go there because then the world would see the ugly truth.

A Stakeholder Approach to Corporate Social Responsibility Philip Kotler,François Maon,2016-03-16 Corporate social responsibility has grown into a global phenomenon that encompasses businesses consumers governments and civil society and many organizations have adopted its discourse Yet corporate social responsibility remains an uncertain and poorly defined ambition with few absolutes First the issues that organizations must address can easily be interpreted to include virtually everyone and everything Second with their unique often particular characteristics different stakeholder groups tend to focus only on specific issues that they believe are the most appropriate and relevant in organizations corporate social responsibility programs Thus beliefs about what constitutes a socially responsible and sustainable organization depend on the perspective of the stakeholder Third in any organization the beliefs of organizational members about their organization s social responsibilities vary according to their function and department as well as their own managerial fields of knowledge A Stakeholder Approach to Corporate Social Responsibility provides a comprehensive collection of cutting edge theories and research that can lead to a more multifaceted understanding of corporate social responsibility in its various forms the pressures and conflicts that result from these different understandings and some potential solutions for reconciling them New Food Product Development Holger York Toschka,2025-03-31 With a new subtitle to reflect its global perspective and a new author this book continues the mission of earlier editions to describe the stages of food development in detail beginning with sources of ideas and moving through development final screening and introduction into the marketplace Every chapter contains one or more case studies New chapters address the tools available for the food industry and manufacturers to select sharpen fine tune and support new food product launches More attention is given to the influence of global concerns about the deteriorating environment and here particularly the role and responsibility of the food industry and those working on new food products Key Features This edition adds the perspective from single product or product range development to the overall portfolio management This edition explains strategies for successful management of unpredictable uncertain and complex conditions in new food product development NFPD Chapters contain one or more case studies to add pedagogy for students and practical applications for professionals More focus is given to the role and responsibilities of research and development R D in innovation management Two chapters are used to predict the future direction for NFPD This book can serve as the core textbook for the capstone new food product development course typically found in the food science curriculum and is of equal value to early career food scientists finding themselves in a multidisciplinary team working on the creation of a new food product Airman ,1999 Daily Graphic Ransford Tetteh,2010-01-28 Data Analytics for Business Fenio Annansingh,Joseph Bon Sesay,2022-04-20 Data analytics underpin our modern data driven economy This textbook explains the relevance of data analytics at the firm and industry levels tracing the evolution and key components of the field and showing how data analytics insights can be leveraged for business results The first section of the text covers key topics such as data analytics tools data mining business intelligence customer relationship management and cybersecurity The chapters then take an industry focus exploring how data analytics can be used in particular settings to strengthen business decision making A range of sectors are examined including financial services accounting marketing sport health care retail transport and education With industry case studies
