News in Public Memory Ingrid Volkmer, 2006 News in Public Memory brings together a team of international experts to investigate the media transmitted history of the twentieth century as it exists in the memories and minds of people living in diverse cultures across the globe This book compares media related childhood memories across three generations in nine countries Results reveal that events of the past century are not only historical facts but have become substantial elements of a new global collective memory that has been integrated into generational identity worldwide The global approach of this research encourages the idea that the world is an interconnected whole but it also helps to advance a better understanding of the different perceptions of global and local news as they emerge from various cultural angles and geographical regions

Between Worlds Linda Chisholm, 2017-11-30 How the story of how missionary schools adopted the Bantu education reforms gives insight into the ongoing legacy of the apartheid in the South African educational system The transition from apartheid to the post apartheid era has highlighted questions about the past and the persistence of its influence in present day South Africa This is particularly so in education where the past continues to play a decisive role in relation to inequality Between Worlds German Missionaries and the Transition from Mission to Bantu Education in South Africa scrutinises the experience of a hitherto unexplored German mission society probing the complexities and paradoxes of social change in education It raises challenging questions about the nature of mission education legacies Linda Chisholm shows that the transition from mission to Bantu Education was far from seamless Instead past and present interpenetrated one another with resistance and compliance cohabiting in a complex new social order At the same time as missionaries complied with the new Bantu Education dictates they sought to secure a role for themselves in the face of demands of local communities for secular state controlled education When the latter was implemented in a perverted form from the mid 1950s one of its tools was textbooks in local languages developed by mission societies as part of a transnational project with African participation Introduced under the guise of expunging European control Bantu Education merely served to reinforce such control The response of local communities was an attempt to domesticate and master the foreign body of the mission so as to create access to a larger world This book focuses on the ensuing struggle fought on many fronts including medium of instruction and textbook content with concomitant sub texts relating to gender roles and sexuality South Africa s educational history is to this day informed by networks of people and ideas crossing geographic and racial boundaries The colonial legacy has inevitably involved cultural mixing and hybridisation with paradoxically parallel pleas for purity Chisholm explores how these ideas found expression in colliding and coalescing worlds one African the other European caught between mission and apartheid education The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art ,1862

The Illustrated London News ,1879 The Natal Agricultural Journal and Mining Journal ,1907 Natal Agriculture Journal ,1907 African Review ,1899 South African Language Rights Monitor 2006 Mariana Kriel,2010-01-01 The South African Language Rights Monitor SALRM Project surveys the mainstream newspapers of South Africa with a view to compile annual reports on the developments on the language front in the country While the main focus is on language rights and language rights activism the Monitor also covers other language related problems including name changes and aspects of language promotion The Florida Agriculturist ,1891
