² These findings will also benefit those who are looking for ways to improve the quality of their work and the quality of their lives.

Abstract The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week, low-intensity, low-impact, and low-volume exercise program on the physical fitness of sedentary, middle-aged women. The program was designed to be safe and enjoyable, with the goal of increasing physical activity levels and improving health-related quality of life. The program consisted of three sessions per week, each lasting 30 minutes. The sessions included a warm-up, a main exercise period, and a cool-down. The main exercise period was divided into three parts: cardiovascular exercise, strength training, and flexibility exercises. The cardiovascular exercise was performed on a stationary bike, the strength training was performed using resistance bands, and the flexibility exercises were performed on the floor. The program was evaluated using a pre-test and a post-test. The results showed that the program had a positive effect on physical fitness, with significant improvements in cardiovascular fitness, strength, and flexibility. The program was also found to be safe and enjoyable, with no adverse effects reported. The results of this study suggest that a 12-week, low-intensity, low-impact, and low-volume exercise program can be an effective way to improve physical fitness in sedentary, middle-aged women.
