This book comprises eight essays that consider the politics and polemics of monuments in Africa in the wake of the RhodesMustFall movement in 2015 The removal of the Rhodes statue from UCT main campus is the pivot on which the discussion of monuments as heritage in South Africa turns It raised a number of questions about the implementation of heritage policy and the unequal deployment of memorials in the South African and other postcolonial landscapes The essays in this volume are written by authors coming from different backgrounds and different disciplines They address different aspects of this event and its aftermath offering some intensive critique of existing monuments analysing the successes of new initiatives meditating on the visual resonances of all monuments and attempting to map ways of moving forward Diversity in African languages Doris L. Payne, Sara Pacchiarotti, Mokaya Bosire, 2016-12-31 Diversity in African Languages contains a selection of revised papers from the 46th Annual Conference on African Linguistics held at the University of Oregon Most chapters focus on single languages addressing diverse aspects of their phonology morphology semantics syntax information structure or historical development These chapters represent nine different genera Mande Gur Kwa Edoid Bantu Nilotic Gumuzic Cushitic and Omotic Other chapters investigate a mix of languages and families moving from typological issues to sociolinguistic and inter ethnic factors that affect language and accent switching Some chapters are primarily descriptive while others push forward the theoretical understanding of tone semantic problems discourse related structures and other linguistic systems The papers on Bantu languages reflect something of the internal richness and continued fascination of the family for linguists as well as maturation of research on the family The distribution of other papers highlights the need for intensified research into all the language families of Africa including basic documentation in order to comprehend linguistic diversities and convergences across the continent In this regard the chapter on Daats i in Gumuzic stands out as the first ever published article on this hitherto unknown and endangered language found in the Ethiopian Sudanese border lands

Right Peripheral Fragments Javier Fernández-Sánchez, 2020-02-15 In recent years a number of authors De Vries 2009 Truckenbrodt 2015 Ott and de Vries 2016 inter alia have defended that right dislocations RD should be treated as bisentential structures where the dislocated constituent is actually a remnant of a clausal ellipsis operation licensed under identity with an antecedent clause Although Romance RD is a fertile area of research the consequences of the biclausal analysis remain unexplored in these languages This monograph intends to fill this gap Adopting this approach not only solves some issues that have always been at the core of dislocation structures in general it also allows us to uncover novel sets of data and to provide straightforward explanations for well known generalizations Further it brings RD along with a set of phenomena which are structurally very similar like afterthoughts or split questions which have been independently argued to display a bisentential structure Under alternative monoclausal approaches to RD the striking similarities between these phenomena must be rendered anecdotal

The Nightwatchman Hlonipha Mokoena,2025-08-01 Drawing on a rich archive of colonial photography Mokoena explores how images of African policemen and nightwatchmen in colonial South Africa challenged traditional narratives of oppression revealing how uniform and portraiture transformed the black male figure into an aesthetic subject worthy of admiration This illustrated collection of essays brings into focus African men in colonial uniforms as a subject of portraiture It extends the literature on colonial ethnographic photography by creating a narrative of nightwatchman portraiture from the rich archive of images While a genre of photography developed around images of the Zulu warrior after the defeat of the English at Isandlwana Hlonipha Mokoena argues that the spectacle of the Zulu male body was inaugurated after the last Zulu king Cetshwayo was photographed as a posing subject Much research has focussed on the African man as a functionary of settler power these essays shift debates about how the body moves in history Placed in uniform the male subject becomes aestheticised and admired Mokoena focuses on the sartorial selection processes and co optation of colonial aesthetic culture that constructed the idea of the Nonqgqayi or nightwatchman as a fully formed photographic presence The beauty captured in these images upends conceptions of colonial photography as a tool of oppression In its focus on the figure of the black and brown fighting man The Nightwatchman offers an innovative work on the history of portraiture in colonial South Africa and
