A Sense of the Whole Mark Gonnerman, 2015-06-09 In 1997 Mark Gonnerman organized a yearlong research workshop on Gary Snyder's Mountains and Rivers Without End at the Stanford Humanities Center. Members of what came to be known among faculty, students and diverse community members as the Mountains Rivers Workshop met regularly to read and discuss Snyder's epic poem. Here the poem served as a commons that turned the multiversity into a university once again if only for a moment. The Workshop invited writers, teachers and scholars from Northern California and Japan to speak on various aspects of Snyder's great accomplishment. This book captures the excitement of these gatherings and invites readers to enter the poem through essays and talks by David Abram, Wendell Berry, Carl Bielefeldt, Tim Dean, Jim Dodge, Robert Hass, Stephanie Kaza, Julia Martin, Michael McClure, Nanao Sakaki and Katsunori Yamazato. It includes an interview with Gary Snyder, appendices and other resources for further study. Snyder once introduced a reading of this work with reference to whitewater rapids, saying most of his writing is like a Class III run where you will do just fine on your own but that Mountains and Rivers is more like Class V. If you're going to make it to take it out, you need a guide. As a collection of commentaries and background readings, this companion volume enhances each reader's ability to find their way into and through an adventurous and engaging work of art.

Smile of the Buddha Jacquelyn Baas, 2005 The relations between eastern and western cultures have long been a neglected topic and this careful and intelligent look at a small but significant part of those relations is most welcome. Thomas McEvilley, author of The Shape of Ancient Thought. How wonderful that Jacquelyn Baas has seen the light of the Buddha's smile shining from faraway Asia into the realm of the art of modern times in what we think of as the West. Her work reveals how some of our most influential artists explored and expressed the sophisticated perceptions and joyful energy emanating from the realm of Buddhist Asia. Robert A. F. Thurman, As a Buddhist scholar and artist I welcome this thoughtful and richly detailed study of how many aspects of Buddhism have stimulated, invigorated and enriched Western arts over the past 150 years. Stephen Addiss, author of The Art of Zen. A crucial contribution to modern art studies, this high spirited text surveys Western artists awakened by the wisdom of the East from Monet and Duchamp to O. K. Cooper to Martin. It is a thoughtful book about thoughtful artists, their values and their visions, with a lot to offer general readers and specialists alike. Charles Stuckey, Associate Professor of Art History at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago.

Human Development Across the Life Span is a comprehensive guide to understanding all of your clients and providing the type of counseling that facilitates more positive outcomes.

Meaning in Myth Thomas M. Casey, 1989-11-01

Why is one person a believer and another an atheist? Why does one person demand facts for verification while another trusts feelings? Why are some who hear voices declared psychotic while others are called saints? The answers to these questions are not mere speculation or amusing distraction; rather, they are the essential components in developing curiosity, open-mindedness, and tolerance for differences. Meaning in Myth speaks to the various ways in which we all construct our myth or life story from our very personal ways of thinking, evaluating, judging, and ignoring. It is nothing less than an invitation to encounter other viewpoints, other faiths, and disbeliefs, and ultimately ourselves.

Christians Talk about Buddhist Meditation, Buddhists Talk About Christian Prayer Rita M. Gross, Terry C. Muck, 2003-04-29

This book adopts the format of the editors' previous book, Buddhists Talk about Jesus, Christians Talk about the Buddha. In that book, eight scholars/practitioners, four of them Buddhist and four Christian, explored their relationship to the great religious figure of the other tradition. Then the remaining contributors, two from each tradition, addressed themselves, in rebuttal fashion, to the views expressed. In the new book, the subject is the differences and similarities between Buddhist meditation and Christian prayer. What can a Christian, for example, learn from the mental and physical rigor of Buddhist meditative practice? What can a Buddhist learn from traditional Christian prayer? Can one mix distinct religious identity with practice techniques?
