CHAPTER 2 DEVELOPING MARKETING STRATEGIES AND PLANS

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

In this chapter, we will address the following questions:

1. How does marketing affect customer value?
2. How is strategic planning carried out at the corporate and divisional levels?
3. How is strategic planning carried out at the business unit level?
4. What does a marketing plan include?

CHAPTER SUMMARY

1. The value delivery process includes choosing (or identifying), providing (or delivering), and communicating superior value. The value chain is a tool for identifying key activities that create value and costs in a specific business.
2. Strong companies develop superior capabilities in managing core business processes such as new-product realization, inventory management, and customer acquisition and retention. In today's marketing environment, managing these core processes effectively means creating a marketing network in which the company works closely with all parties in the production and distribution chain, from suppliers of raw materials to retail distributors. Companies no longer compete—marketing networks do.
3. Market-oriented strategic planning is the managerial process of developing and maintaining a viable fit between the organization's objectives, skills, and resources and its changing market opportunities. The aim of strategic planning is to shape the company's businesses and products so they yield target profits and growth. Strategic planning takes place at four levels: corporate, division, business unit, and product.
