Imaginative Possibilities Maceo Montoya, Javier O. Huerta, 2024-11-05 Two decades into the twenty first century contemporary Latinx writers have established themselves within an evolving literary tradition Imaginative

Possibilities collects interviews with some of these authors to explore the writers' processes, aesthetics, creative trajectories and places within the larger body of Latinx literature. The interviews address artistic, professional and cultural issues including the building of intellectual communities, the writing and publication process and the practical economics of making a living. US Latinx writers discuss how they navigate the overwhelmingly white publishing industry, the academic book market, higher education and MFA culture while exploring questions of representation, hybridity and mestizaje. Through these conversations, a truth emerges: Latinx literature speaks not with one voice but many.

California and the Melancholic American Identity in Joan Didion's Novels Katarzyna Nowak McNeice, 2018-12-07. California and the Melancholic American Identity in Joan Didion's Novels. Exiled from Eden focuses on the concept of Californian identity in the fiction of Joan Didion. This identity is understood as melancholic in the sense that the critics following the tradition of both Sigmund Freud and Walter Benjamin use the word. The book traces the progress of the way Californian identity is portrayed in Joan Didion's novels, starting with the first two in which California plays the central role: Run, River and Play It As It Lays. Through A Book of Common Prayer, Democracy and The Last Thing He Wanted, where California functions only as a distant point of reference, receding to the background of Didion's interests. Curiously enough, Didion presents Californian history as a history of white settlement, disregarding whole chapters of the history of the region in which the Californios and Native Americans, among other groups, played a crucial role. It is this reticence that the monograph sees as the main problem of Didion's fiction and presents it as the silent center of gravity in Didion's oeuvre. The monograph proposes to see the melancholy expressed by Didion's fiction organized into four losses: of Nature, History, Ethics and Language, around which the main analytical chapters are constructed. What remains unrepresented and silenced comes back to haunt Didion's fiction and it results in a melancholic portrayal of California and its identity, which is the central theme this monograph addresses.
