The Cairo House Samia Serageldin, 2003-07-01 Samia Serageldin's heroine the daughter of a politically prominent land owning Egyptian family witnesses the changes sweeping her homeland Looking back to the glamorous Egypt of the pashas and King Faruk Serageldin moves forward to the police state of the colonels who seized power in 1952 and the disastrous consequences of Nasser's sequestration policies Through well chosen portraits and telling descriptions of the era's fashions and furnishings Serageldin conveys detailed social and cultural information She offers a glimpse of the beach at Agami in the 1960s and conveys the change in mood through the Sadat years Serageldin's fictional treatment of recent Egyptian history includes key events leading to the rise of Islamic fundamentalism such as the assassination of writer Yussef Siba yi and the harassment of theologian Nasr Abu Zayd Serageldin's heroine goes into exile in Europe and the United States but returns to Egypt in an attempt to reconcile her past and present Charting fresh territory for the American reader this semi autobiographical novel is one of the most sensitive and accessible documents of historical change in Egyptian life The book will appeal to a general audience and will be particularly useful to students interested in the social customs of the upper class in Egypt in the Nasser and Sadat years A novel of a child growing up in Egypt abroad within the framework of an affluent family who was proscribed under Nasser but who survived

Contemporary Arab-American Literature Carol Fadda-Conrey, 2014 The last couple of decades have witnessed a flourishing of Arab American literature across multiple genres Yet increased interest in this literature is ironically paralleled by a prevalent bias against Arabs and Muslims that portrays their long presence in the US as a recent and unwelcome phenomenon Spanning the 1990s to the present Carol Fadda Conrey takes in the sweep of literary and cultural texts by Arab American writers in order to understand the ways in which their depictions of Arab homelands whether actual or imagined play a crucial role in shaping cultural articulations of US citizenship and belonging By asserting themselves within a US framework while maintaining connections to their homelands Arab Americans contest the blanket representations of themselves as dictated by the US nation state Deploying a multidisciplinary framework at the intersection of Middle Eastern studies US ethnic studies and diaspora studies Fadda Conrey argues for a transnational discourse that overturns the often rigid affiliations embedded in ethnic labels Tracing the shifts in transnational perspectives from the founders of Arab American literature like Gibran Kahlil Gibran and Ameen Rihani to modern writers such as Naomi Shihab Nye Joseph Geha Randa Jarrar and Suheir Hammad Fadda Conrey finds that contemporary Arab American writers depict strong yet complex attachments to the US landscape She explores how the idea of home is negotiated between immigrant parents and subsequent generations alongside analyses of texts that work toward fostering more nuanced understandings of Arab and Muslim identities in the wake of post 9 11 anti Arab sentiments

prior to Nasser      The Politics and Practices of Cultural Heritage in the Middle East Irene Maffi, 2014-04-21 During the nineteenth century cultural heritage became a dominant feature of the political ideology of the European states and of their colonies It became a new form of legitimization for the rising nation state cementing its inextricable link with that nation s politics and practices The set of concepts and practices defining cultural heritage were exported to and imposed over the colonized populations in North Africa and the Near East The legacy of the colonial period has proven very significant in the domain of cultural heritage which has become a crucial cultural arena in many Arab states As in the majorities of post colonial states in the Arab world the inherited paradigm of cultural heritage has been subject to various forms of adaption and re elaboration that have made it a lively and complex space of negotiations between various actors Thus in The Politics of Cultural Heritage in the Middle East Irene Maffi and Rami Daher draw together expert scholars to unravel these complex processes that are involved in the definition production and consumption of heritage and its material culture in the Middle East and the dynamics of the key actors involved The variety of the cases analysed that cover the region from Morocco to Lebanon as well as the multiplicity of the actors concerned such as the state post colonial or colonial international organizations municipal councils local communities families and even exceptional personalities highlights and explores the complex processes where very local and specific dynamics intertwine with transnational economic political and cultural fluxes In its examination of the workings of cultural heritage in the Middle East this book is an important resource for students and scholars of Middle East Studies Cultural History History of Art and Architecture and for stakeholders involved in the field of cultural heritage      Digital SAT Total Prep 2025: Includes 2 Full Length Practice Tests, 1,000+

Shouting in a Cage Sofia Fenner, 2023-07-11 Durable authoritarian rule often rests on the co-optation of challengers The conventional story is straightforward rulers entice opposition groups to sell out offering them benefits if they set aside their antiauthoritarian aspirations and become part of the system However co-optation does not always neutralize former adversaries and even seemingly domesticated opponents can turn on their rulers Co-optation does weaken opposition but it is not as simple reliable or transactional as existing theories claim Shouting in a Cage offers new ways to understand co-optation's power and its limits by examining two co-opted parties the Wafd Party in Egypt and the Istiqlal Party in Morocco Sofia Fenner argues that co-optation is less a corrupt bargain than a discursive contest a clash of competing interpretations Co-opted parties conjure up imagined futures in which their short-term choices will lead to the realization of their long-term democratic goals Meanwhile other actors point to the disconnect between these parties' antiauthoritarian aspirations and their participation in authoritarian systems Fenner demonstrates that co-opted parties come to look hypocritical precisely because they refuse to give up their oppositional commitments Their credibility sapped they become unappealing allies and eventually political afterthoughts However such parties retain a surprising capacity for opposition rooted in the literal and metaphorical idea of party as family Based on extensive archival research and ethnographic fieldwork in North Africa Shouting in a Cage broadens our understanding of political behavior under authoritarianism

Creating the New Egyptian Woman M. Russell, 2004-11-12 A New Woman was announced in Egypt at the turn of the nineteenth century. With a new genre of prescriptive literature, new products, a new education, and a physically changed home, she increasingly emerged in public life. This book discusses and debates the place of Egyptian women while focusing on consumerism and education. Russell sheds much needed light on the struggle for identity in Egypt at a time of considerable flux and tension and provides a powerful angle to explore changing concepts of social dynamics and broader debates of what it meant to be modern while retaining local authenticity.

Modern Arab American Fiction Steven Salaita, 2011-04-13 Within the spectrum of American literary traditions, Arab American literature is relatively new. Writing produced by Americans of Arab origin is mainly a product of the twentieth century and only started to flourish in the past thirty years. While this young but thriving literature varies widely in content and style, it emerges from a common community and within a specific historical, political, and cultural context. In Modern Arab American Fiction, Salaita maps out the landscape of this genre as he details rather than defines the last century of Arab American fiction. Exploring the works of such best-selling authors as Rabih Alameddine, Mohja Kahf, Laila Halaby, Diana Abu Jaber, Alicia Erian, and Randa Jarrar, Salaita highlights the development of each author's writing and how each has influenced Arab American fiction. He examines common themes including the Israel-Palestine conflict, the Lebanese Civil War of 1975-90, the representation and practice of Islam in the United States, social issues such as gender and national identity in Arab cultures, and the various identities that come with being Arab American. Combining the accessibility of a primer with in-depth critical analysis, Modern Arab American Fiction is suitable for a broad audience, those unfamiliar with the subject area as well as scholars of the literature.
