The Black Cat Edgar Allan Poe, 2019-05-07 The Black Cat is a short story by Edgar Allan Poe It was first published in the August 19 1843 edition of The Saturday Evening Post It is a study of the psychology of guilt often paired in analysis with Poe's The Tell Tale Heart In both a murderer carefully conceals his crime and believes himself unassailable but eventually breaks down and reveals himself impelled by a nagging reminder of his guilt

The Black Cat Annotated Edgar Allan Poe, 2018-02-19 The story is presented as a first person narrative using an unreliable narrator He is a condemned man at the outset of the story 3 The narrator tells us that from an early age he has loved animals He and his wife have many pets including a large beautiful black cat as described by the narrator named Pluto This cat is especially fond of the narrator and vice versa Their mutual friendship lasts for several years until the narrator becomes an alcoholic One night after coming home completely intoxicated he believes the cat to be avoiding him When he tries to seize it the panicked cat bites the narrator and in a fit of rage he seizes the animal pulls a pen knife from his pocket and deliberately gouges out the cat's eye From that moment onward the cat flees in terror at his master's approach At first the narrator is remorseful and regrets his cruelty But this feeling soon gave place to irritation And then came as if to my final and irrevocable overthrow the spirit of perverseness He takes the cat out in the garden one morning and ties a noose around its neck hanging it from a tree where it dies That very night his house mysteriously catches fire forcing the narrator his wife and their servant to flee the premises The next day the narrator returns to the ruins of his home to find imprinted on the single wall that survived the fire the apparition of a gigantic cat with a rope around the animal's neck At first this image deeply disturbs the narrator but gradually he determines a logical explanation for it that someone outside had cut the cat from the tree and thrown the dead creature into the bedroom to wake him during the fire The narrator begins to miss Pluto feeling guilty Some time later he finds a similar cat in a tavern It is the same size and color as the original and is even missing an eye The only difference is a large white patch on the animal's chest The narrator takes it home but soon begins to loathe even fear the creature After a time the white patch of fur begins to take shape and to the narrator forms the shape of the gallows This terrifies and angers him more and he avoids the cat whenever possible Then one day when the narrator and his wife are visiting the cellar in their new home the cat gets under its master's feet and nearly trips him down the stairs Enraged the man grabs an axe and tries to kill the cat but is stopped by his wife whom out of fury he kills instead To conceal her body he removes bricks from a protrusion in the wall places her body there and repairs the hole A few days later when the police show up at the house to investigate the wife's disappearance they find nothing and the narrator goes free The cat which he intended to kill as well has also gone missing This grants him the freedom to sleep even with the burden of murder On the last day of the investigation the narrator accompanies the police into the cellar They still find nothing significant Then completely confident in his own safety the narrator comments on the sturdiness of the building and raps upon the wall he had built around his wife

s body A loud inhuman wailing sound fills the room The alarmed police tear down the wall and find the wife s corpse and on its rotting head to the utter horror of the narrator is the screeching black cat As he words it I had walled the monster up within the tomb
