Office for Subject Cataloging Policy, 1992 The Family Herald, 1852 American Blood Holly Jackson, 2014 The conventional view of the family in the nineteenth century novel holds that it venerated the traditional domestic unit as a model of national belonging Contesting this interpretation American Blood argues that many authors of the period challenged preconceptions of the family and portrayed it as a detriment to true democracy and by extension the political enterprise of the United States Relying on works by Harriet Beecher Stowe Nathaniel Hawthorne William Wells

Brown Pauline Hopkins and others Holly Jackson reveals family portraits that are claustrophobic antidemocratic and even unnatural The novels examined here welcome in Jackson s reading the decline of the family and the exclusionary white privileging American social order that it supported Embracing and imagining this decline the novels examined here incorporate and celebrate the very practices that mainstream Americans felt were the most dangerous to the family as an institution interracial sex doomed marriages homosexuality and the willful rejection of reproduction In addition to historicized readings the monograph also highlights how formal narrative characteristics served to heighten their anti familial message according to Jackson the false starts interpolated plots and narrative dead ends prominent in novels like The House of the Seven Gables and Dred are formal iterations of the books interest in disrupting the family as a privileged ideological site In sum American Blood offers a much needed corrective that will generate fresh insights into nineteenth century literature and culture
