South African Budget Speech For 2015 2016:

Problematizing the Foreign Shop Vanya Gastrow, 2018-08-03 Small businesses owned by international migrants and refugees are often the target of xenophobic hostility and attack in South Africa This report examines the problematization of migrant owned businesses in South Africa and the regulatory efforts aimed at curtailing their economic activities In so doing it sheds light on the complex ways in which xenophobic fears are generated and manifested in the countrys social legal and political orders Efforts to curb migrant spaza shops in South Africa have included informal trade agreements at local levels fining migrant shops and legislation that prohibits asylum seekers from operating businesses in the country Several of these interventions have overlooked the content of local by laws and outdated legal frameworks The report concludes that when South African township residents attack migrant spaza shops they are expressing their dissatisfaction with their socio economic conditions to an apprehensive state and political leadership In response governance actors turn on migrant shops to demonstrate their allegiance to these residents to appease South African spaza shopkeepers and to tacitly blame socio economic malaise on perceived foreign forces Overall these actors do not have spaza shops primarily in mind when calling for the stricter regulation of these businesses Instead they are concerned about the volatile support of their key political constituencies and how this backing can be undermined or generated by the symbolic gesture of regulating the foreign shop

Mienie, 2020-03-06 Do existing measures of state fragility measure fragility accurately Based on commonly used fragility measures South Africa SA is classified as a relatively stable state yet rising violent crime high unemployment endemic poverty eroding public trust identity group based preferential treatment policies and the rapid rise of the private security sector are all indications that SA may be suffering from latent state fragility Based on a comprehensive view of security this study examines the extent to which measures of political legitimacy and good governance effectiveness in the security system especially with respect to the police system and mounting economic challenges may be undermining the stability of SA in ways undetected by commonly used measures of state fragility Using a mixed methods approach based on quantitative secondary data analysis and semi structured interviews with government officials security practitioners and leading experts in the field this study finds that the combination of colonization apartheid liberation struggle transition from autocracy to democracy high levels of direct and structural violence stagnating social political and economic developments make South Africa a latently fragile state Conceptually the results of this research call into question the validity of commonly used measures of state fragility and suggest the need for a more comprehensive approach to assessing state fragility Practically this study offers a number of concrete policy recommendations for how South Africa may address mounting levels of latent state fragility Massive Suburbanization K. The Geography of South Africa Jasper Knight,Christian M. Rogerson,2018-10-03 This edited collection examines contemporary directions in geographical research on South Africa It encompasses a cross section of selected themes of critical importance not only to the discipline of Geography in South Africa but also of relevance to other areas of the Global South All chapters are original contributions providing a state of the art research baseline on key themes in physical human and environmental geography and in understanding the changing geographical landscapes of modern South Africa These contributions set the scene for an understanding of the relationships between modern South Africa and the wider contemporary world including issues of sustainable development and growth in the Global South Greening the South African Economy Mark Swilling,Josephine Kaviti Musango,Jeremy Wakeford,2016-02-23 The depletion of South Africa's and in some cases the world's natural resources and the degradation of environmental sinks including the atmosphere lakes and rivers and land are continuing at such a rate that natural resource prices are climbing and many critical ecosystem services that underpin human welfare are increasingly threatened The concept of the green economy has gained increasing traction in South African policy discourses over the past few years However in much of this discourse it is viewed in a piecemeal way as one part or sector of the economy e.g. an industrial sector dealing with manufacture and installation of renewable energy technologies and energy efficient equipment and appliances In the view of the authors greening the South African economy requires an application of sustainability principles and practices across the full range of primary secondary and tertiary sectors of the economy in an integrated manner The aim of this book is therefore to apply principles of sustainability and green economics to the entire South African socio economic system and its major elements in an integrated and comprehensive manner

The Political Economy of Mental Illness in South Africa André J van Rensburg,2021-02-17 The book describes key socio political reforms that helped shape post apartheid South Africa's mental health system The author interrogates how reforms shaped public community based services for people living with severe mental illness and how features of this care have been determined in part at least by the relations between actors and structures in the state private for profit health care and civil society spheres A description of the development of South Africa's post apartheid health system and the contentions that emerge therein sets the stage for an analysis of the country's most tragic human rights failure during its democratic period namely the Life Esidimeni tragedy The roots of the tragedy are not only framed as a loss of life and dignity as a result of political corruption and administrative mismanagement but as a power differential that ultimately highlights an unjust system that relegates its most vulnerable citizens to commodities without voice and without agency The book concludes that the commodification of severe mental illness has been a product of neoliberal discourses that have shaped the economic ways in which the post apartheid South African state have governed poverty and severe mental illness This book will be of interest to scholars of health social and economic policy in South Africa Localizing the SDGs in African Cities Sylvia Croese,Susan Parnell,2022-07-19 This volume brings together a unique set of interventions from a variety of contributors to bridge the gap between research and policy with a distinct focus on Africa drawing on work conducted as part of multiple interconnected research projects and networks on the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs and global policy implementation in African cities Through the framework of the SDGs and in particular Goal 11 the book aims to contribute to generating new knowledge about approaches to SDG localization that are grounded in complex and diverse local contexts needs and realities integrated perspectives and collaborative research The volume draws together contributions from urban experts from different professional and disciplinary backgrounds ranging from the fields of governance planning data sustainability health and finance to provide critical insight into the current dynamics actors blind spots constraints and also good practices and opportunities for realizing the SDGs in Africa Readers will gain detailed and informed insight into the African experience of SDG localization monitoring and implementation based on multiple case studies and will learn of the practices needed to accelerate action towards achieving the SDGs in urban contexts This book will be of interest to researchers and planners focusing on SDGs implementation in Africa as well as government organizations development practitioners and students committed to long term inclusive sustainable and participatory development This is an open access book Chapters 1 3 6 8 11 and 14 are available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link springer.com Public Value Theory and Budgeting Usman W. Chohan,2019-05-22 Public value theory has advanced over the past 30 years but there is a need to extend its boundary outwards into new contexts and update its discourse to reflect new social challenges We are now trying to create value in a globalized world with supranational entities with new international alliances and institutions in a frightening post truth era How can public managers grapple with these emerging realities This book seeks to provide answers to such public value questions by applying powerful budgeting perspectives Using case studies of independent budget offices key fiscal instruments and leading public value frameworks this book stands out in its use of budgetary lenses to answer pertinent questions about the multidimensional processes of value creation by and for a wider society Pushing the debate on public value forward and taking it onto the global stage the book asks whether public value and other public administration theories are applicable beyond the traditional context of the pro globalization Western liberal democracies in which they were conceived It does this by exploring the realms of developing countries supranational entities and post Communist societies among others Finally it presents these explorations in light of very recent sociopolitical trends and phenomena including the growth of civil society the global financial crisis the illiberal democracy and the post truth era Tailored to an audience comprising public administration scholars students of government budget practitioners and social scientists interested in contemporary problems of values in society this book helps to advance public administration thought by extending public value theory into new contexts and relating it to the growing global challenges of public life The South African Response to COVID-19 Pieter Fourie, Guy Lamb, 2023-03-28 This book analyses the first two years of South Africa's response to the COVID 19 epidemic from its emergence in early 2020 Drawing on the perspectives of a range of public health experts economists and other social scientists and development practitioners this book argues that understanding this early response will be essential to moderate and improve future policy thinking around health governance and epidemic readiness This book provides a systemic analysis of not only the epidemiological progression of COVID 19 in South Africa but also the socio political factors that will be key in determining the future of the country as a whole including health system challenges socio economic disparities and inequalities and variable often contradictory and tardy policy responses Overall this book exposes Manichean thinking and the spurious policy dichotomies that pitch public health against human rights economic recovery against viral vector control and science against ideology with lessons not just for South Africa but also for elsewhere on the African continent and beyond This book will be perfect for researchers and practitioners across Public Health Health Policy and Global Health as well as those with an interest in South African politics and development more generally The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4 0 license Region-Building in Africa Daniel H. Levine, Dawn Nagar, 2016-05-19 This landmark book is the first of its kind to assess the challenges of African region building and regional integration across all five African sub regions and more than five decades of experience considering both political and economic aspects Leading scholars and practitioners come together to analyze a range of entwined topics including the theoretical underpinnings that have informed Africa's regional integration trajectory the political economy of integration including the sources of different waves of integration in pan Africanism and the reaction to neo liberal economic pressures the complexities of integration in a context of weak states and the informal regionalization that often occurs in borderlands the increasing salience of Africa's relationships with rising extra regional economic powers including China and India and comparative lessons from non African regional blocs including the EU ASEAN and the Southern Common Market A core argument of this book running through all chapters is that region building must be recognized as a political project as much as if not more than an economic one successful region building in Africa will need to include the complex political tasks of strengthening state capacity including states capacity as developmental states that can actively engage in economic planning resolving long standing conflicts over resources and political dominance improving democratic governance and developing trans national political structures that are legitimate and inclusive Africa's Soft Power Oluwaseun Tella, 2021-05-23 This book investigates the ways in which soft power is used by African countries to help drive global influence. Selecting four of the countries most associated with soft power across the continent, this book delves into the currencies of soft power across the region from South Africa's progressive constitution and expanding multinational corporations to Nigeria's Nollywood film industry and Technical Aid Corps (TAC) scheme, Kenya's sport diplomacy, fashion and tourism industries, and finally Egypt's Pan Arabism and its reputation as the cradle of civilisation. The book asks how soft power is wielded by these countries and what constraints and contradictions they encounter. Understandings of soft power have typically been driven by Western scholars, but throughout this book Oluwaseun Tella aims to Africanise our understanding of soft power, drawing on prominent African philosophies including Nigeria's Omoluwabi, South Africa's Ubuntu, Kenya's Harambee and Egypt's Pharaonism. This book will be of interest to researchers from across political science, international relations, cultural studies, foreign policy and African Studies. Citizen and Pariah Vanya Gastrow, 2022-03. Hoping for a better life, many migrants have made the journey to South Africa and set up as informal spaza shop traders in small towns and township areas, supplying the local residents with essentials. These traders work hard, open their shops early, close late, and support their relatives and kinspeople in starting new businesses. But thriving in environments afflicted by unemployment and crime is almost impossible when armed robberies are a daily reality, protection from law enforcement is not a given, and access to justice is effectively out of reach. Engaging first-hand with small traders and the Somali communities in Khayelitsha, Kraaifontein, and Philippi, Vanya Gastrow investigates the predicament of these modern-day pariahs, social and political outcasts who belong neither to the elite nor the common people and who are frequently the focus of xenophobic anger. Tracing national-level regulatory developments in post-apartheid democratic South Africa, Gastrow shines a light on how retailers have been politicised and how they have faced growing informal and formal regulatory efforts to curtail their business activities. She demonstrates how democratic and constitutional frameworks can erode in contexts of heightened nationalism, populism, and economic inequality. By investigating Somali informal shopkeepers' experiences of crime, justice, and regulation in the country, the fragility of law, pluralism, and democracy in South Africa is uncomfortably exposed.
