South African Metro Police Recruitment 2016:

Panic City Martin J. Murray, 2020-03-10 Despite the end of white minority rule and the transition to parliamentary democracy Johannesburg remains haunted by its tortured history of racial segregation and burdened by enduring inequalities in income opportunities for stable work and access to decent housing Under these circumstances Johannesburg has become one of the most dangerous cities in the world where the yawning gap between the haves and have nots has fueled a turn toward redistribution through crime While wealthy residents have retreated into heavily fortified gated communities and upscale security estates the less affluent have sought refuge in retrofitting their private homes into safe houses closing off public streets and hiring the services of private security companies to protect their suburban neighborhoods Panic City is an exploration of urban fear and its impact on the city's evolving siege architecture the transformation of policing and obsession with security that has fueled unprecedented private consumption of protection services Martin Murray analyzes the symbiotic relationship between public law enforcement agencies private security companies and neighborhood associations wherein buyers and sellers of security have reinvented ways of maintaining outdated segregation practices that define the urban poor as suspects

Police Integrity in South Africa Sanja Kutnjak Ivkovich, Adri Sauerman, 2020-04-29 Policing in South Africa has gained notoriety through its extensive history of oppressive law enforcement In 1994 as the country's apartheid system was replaced with a democratic order the new government faced the significant challenge of transforming the South African police force into a democratic police agency the South African Police Service SAPS that would provide unbiased policing to all the country's people More than two decades since the initiation of the reforms it appears that the SAPS has rapidly developed a reputation as a police agency beset by challenges to its integrity This book offers a unique perspective by providing in depth analyses of police integrity in South Africa It is a case study that systematically and empirically explores the contours of police integrity in a young democracy Using the organizational theory of police integrity the book analyzes the complex set of historical legal political social and economic circumstances shaping police integrity A discussion of the theoretical framework is accompanied by the results of a nationwide survey of nearly 900 SAPS officers probing their familiarity with official rules their expectations of discipline within the SAPS and their willingness to report misconduct The book also examines the influence of the respondents' race gender and supervisory status on police integrity Written in a clear and direct style this book will appeal to students and scholars of criminology policing sociology political science as well as to police administrators interested in expanding their knowledge about police integrity and enhancing it in their organizations

Protest in South Africa Heidi Brooks, Rekgotsofetse Chikane, 2024-01-23 Popular protest has become a regular feature of post 1994 South Africa As a young democracy born out of resistance we may understand the contemporary manifestations of protest as extensions of this broader history However it is notably in the context of formal democratic institutions that popular protest has become an increasingly normalised mode of influencing policy demanding service delivery and forcing change Protest is constitutive of South Africa's democratic politics but also reflective of it Protest in South Africa Rejection reassertion reclamation explores the underpinnings of contemporary protest and both its short term causes and structural drivers Focusing on the surge of protest from the mid 2000s this edited volume provides an overview of the complexity of protest action the diversity of protest spaces and actors and responses to protest from both citizens and state The volume situates its analysis against the backdrop of the global wave of protest witnessed since the turn of the 21 century while examining protest in South Africa's local and historical contexts Contributors to the volume examine protests in relation to among other factors provision of infrastructure and services contestations around socio economic development issues of citizenship and demands for inclusive democratic governance Chapters also examine the role of women in protest action the policing of protest and the intersection of protest action with spaces of formal politics The volume also alerts us to the darker side of protest and the destruction and division it may foment It thus considers the prospects of South Africa's evolving sometimes violent protest terrain for social and state stability and democratic progress In the diversity of spaces sectors and communities of interests in which collective action has emerged Protest in South Africa Rejection reassertion reclamation shows how protest is underpinned by a rejection of the status quo a reassertion of interests and a reclaiming of the political and democratic space

The South African State Transformed? Louis A. Picard, Thomas M. Mogale, Caitlin C. Corrigan, 2024-09-10 This book examines the nature of the 1994 political transition in South Africa and its impact on post apartheid South Africa Specifically it examines the failures of liberalism within the context of the transitional process that led to the institution if not the practice of a non racial state in 1994 The term liberal is an eclectic term defining a several of views political and economic We use the term here within context but essentially define it as a commitment to open views the willingness to consider change and to value basic human rights The nature of institutional change in South Africa as it moved towards a democratic state would influence whether South Africa would succeed as a newly industrializing pluralist democratic country or collapse into yet another African failed state As South Africa moves toward its fourth decade of majority rule the view towards the future is much less promising than it was in 1994

the Municipal Demarcation Board MDB The case of Sedibeng presents important lessons about attempts to make post transition local government and mechanisms for determining its configuration work for Gauteng It also highlights the need for strengthening and revising demarcation related legislation How can we make sure that the MDB functions effectively with respect to its primary goals The Unity of Public Law? Mark Elliott,Jason NE Varuhas,Shona Wilson Stark,2018-04-19 This major collection contains selected papers from the second Public Law Conference an international conference hosted by the University of Cambridge in September 2016 The collection includes contributions by leading academics and judges from across the common law world including senior judges from Australia Canada New Zealand and the UK The contributions engage with the theme of unity and disunity from a number of perspectives offering a rich panoply of insights into public law which significantly carry forward public law thinking across common law jurisdictions setting the agenda for future research and legal development Part 1 of the volume contains chapters which offer doctrinal and theoretical perspectives Some chapters seek to articulate a unifying framework for understanding public law while others seek to demonstrate the plurality of public law through the method of legal taxonomy A number of chapters analyse whether different fields such as human rights and administrative law are merging with others considering specific unifying themes or concepts in public law The chapters in Part 2 offer comparative perspectives charting and analysing convergence and divergence across common law systems Specific topics include standing proportionality human rights remedies use of foreign precedents legal transplants and disunity and unity among subnational jurisdictions The collection will be of great interest to those working in public law

The geese that lay the golden eggs Mirta B. Bono, 2018-05-02 Romance scams or Prince Charming scams are increasing exponentially and sweeping over every continent From the United States to Australia from Europe to Asia It can happen to any woman they're contacted online on a social networking site by improbable characters who after two days fall in love and after three ask for a money remittance to solve an unexpected and very serious problem Among all the extortions made over the Internet romance scams are the most profitable and safest for the rogues of the web Apparently simple and repetitive they can have many different facets to them because over time the method has evolved and been refined The aim is always the same to extort money from women by focusing on making them fall in love using cloned photos plagiarised poems and fake information The process may sometimes even be so simple minded as to immediately reveal the scam however as Romance Scams are highly profitable criminals have refined the system to manage to cheat the targeted person with very high odds of success So any woman may come across clumsy flatterers or rather encounter skilled weavers of emotions who know how to shape a courtship like a tailor made garment sewn onto the victim Translator Linda Thody PUBLISHER TEKTIME
