Species at Risk Jason F. Shogren, 2014-05-14 Protecting endangered species of animals and plants is a goal that almost everyone supports in principle but in practice private landowners have often opposed the regulations of the Endangered Species Act which they argue unfairly limits their right to profit from their property To encourage private landowners to cooperate voluntarily in species conservation and to mitigate the economic burden of doing so the government and nonprofit land trusts have created a number of incentive programs including conservation easements leases habitat banking habitat conservation planning safe harbors candidate conservation agreements and the no surprise policy In this book lawyers economists political scientists historians and zoologists come together to assess the challenges and opportunities for using economic incentives as compensation for protecting species at risk on private property They examine current programs to see how well they are working and also offer ideas for how these programs could be more successful Their ultimate goal is to better understand how economic incentive schemes can be made both more cost effective and more socially acceptable while respecting a wide range of views regarding opportunity costs legal standing biological effectiveness moral appropriateness and social context Workshop on Skyrmions and Anomalies M. War II German tanks The German Tiger I and Tiger II known to the Allies as the King Tiger or Royal Tiger were the most famous and formidable heavy tanks of the Second World War In their day their awesome reputation inspired such apprehension among Allied soldiers that the weaknesses of these brilliant but flawed designs tended to be overlooked Anthony Tucker Jones in this illustrated history tells the story of their conception and development and reconsiders their operational history and he dispels the myths that have grown up around them The Tigers were over engineered required raw materials that were in short supply and were time consuming to manufacture and difficult to recover from the battlefield Only around 1 300 of the Tiger I and fewer than 500 of the Tiger II were produced so they were never going to make anything more than a local impact on the outcome of the fighting on the Western and Eastern fronts Yet the myth of the Tigers with their 88mm guns thick armor and brutal profiles has grown over time to the extent that they are regarded as the deadliest tanks of the Second World War Anthony Tucker Jones s expert account of these remarkable fighting vehicles is accompanied by a series of color plates showing the main variants of the designs and the common ancillary equipment and unit markings His book is an essential work of reference for enthusiasts The Pedagogical Seminary ,1902 Vols 5 15 include Bibliography of child study by Louis N Wilson Philippine Labour Migration Joaquin Lucero Gonzalez,1998 There are currently more than six million Filipino workers in over 120 countries in jobs ranging from maids to managers The Philippine Government has encouraged the manpower exodus to absorb the country s surplus labour and to bring foreign exchange earnings into the Philippine economy However non governmental organizations have argued that social dysfunctions associated with working abroad have not been adequately addressed Using an analytical framework that blends multiple stakeholders perspectives the author assesses the historical demographic economic social and political dimensions of Philippine labour migration policy from the early 1900s to the late 1990s Focusing on recent issues he provides an integrated evaluation from a public policy perspective balancing both state and societal viewpoints A separate soft cover edition is available from De La Salle University Press for customers in the Philippines only Catalogue of Title-entries of Books and Other Articles Entered in the Office of the Librarian of Congress, at Washington, Under the Copyright Law ...
