World At War :

An Imperial World at War Ashley Jackson, Yasmin Khan, Gajendra Singh, 2016-07-01 At the start of the Second World War Britain was at the height of its imperial power and it is no surprise that it drew upon the global resources of the Empire once war had been declared Whilst this international aspect of Britain's war effort has been well studied in relation to the military contribution of individual dominions and colonies relatively little has been written about the Empire as a whole As such An Imperial World at War makes an important contribution to the historiography relating to the British Empire and its wartime experience It argues that the war needs to be viewed in imperial terms that the role of forces drawn from the Empire is poorly understood and that the war's impact on colonial societies is barely grasped at all in conventional accounts Through a series of case studies the volume demonstrates the fundamental role played by the Empire in Britain's war effort and highlights some of the consequences for both Britain and its imperial territories Themes include the recruitment and utilization of military formations drawn from imperial territories the experience of British forces stationed overseas the use of strategic bases located in the colonies British policy in the Middle East and the challenge posed by growing American power the occupation of enemy colonies and the enemy occupation of British colonies colonial civil defence measures financial support for the war effort supplied by the Empire and the commemoration of the war The Afterword anticipates a new decentred history of the war that properly acknowledges the role and importance of people and places throughout the colonial and semi colonial world This volume emanates from a conference organized as part of the Home Fronts of the Empire Commonwealth project The project was generously funded by the Arts and Humanities Research Council and led by Yasmin Khan and Ashley Jackson with Gajendra Singh as Postdoctoral Research Assistant

Americans in a World at War Brooke L. Blower, 2023 Americans in a World at War tells the panoramic and often surprising story of seven worldly Americans their personal histories their politics and the paths that led them to board a Pan American Airways seaplane bound for Lisbon in February 1943 When the Yankee Clipper crashed in the Tagus River it took numerous lives but left a paper trail that leads to a richer deeper understanding of Americans diverse global commitments during the first half of the twentieth century as well as how the Second World War would transform those engagements A World at War, 1911-1949, 2019-03-27 In A World At War 1911 1949 leading and emerging scholars of the cultural history of the two world wars begin to break down the traditional barriers between the historiographies of the two conflicts identifying commonalities as well as casting new light on each as part of a broader mission in honour of Professor John Horne to expand the boundaries of academic exploration of warfare in the 20th century Utilizing techniques and approaches developed by cultural historians of the First World War this volume showcases and explores four crucial themes relating to the socio cultural attributes and representation of war that cut across both the First and Second World Wars cultural mobilization the nature and depiction of combat the experience of civilians under fire and the different meanings of victory and defeat Contributors are Annette Becker Robert Dale Alex Dowdall Robert Gerwarth John Horne Tom's Irish Heather Jones Alan Kramer Edward Madigan Anthony McElligott Michael S Neiberg John Paul Newman Catriona Pennell Filipe Ribeiro de Meneses Daniel Todman and Jay Winter See inside the book World at War part 1-3 Dakota Wardle, 2018-12-05 After a war broke out between the U S and the Koreans the world all broke apart as the Koreans invaded and young Lesa and Her dog Delilah try to survive the war ridled place After every thing A man named Mike shows up and helps with his son and two military traied dogs named Brewster and Swiper once you get into part three you will notice a change of character when we meet Tyler who lives by himself untill he finds some freinds to hang out with Civilians in a World at War, 1914-1918 Tammy M. Proctor, 2010-08-30 This work explores the different ways civilians work and function in a war situation and broadens our understanding of the civilian to encompass munitions workers nurses laundresses refugees aid workers and children who lived and worked in occupied zones on home and battle fronts and in the spaces in between Global in scope spanning the Eastern Western Italian East African and Mediterranean fronts the author examines in detail the role of experts in the war the use of forced labor and the experiences of children in the combatant countries As in many wars civilians on both sides of WWI were affected and vast displacements of the populations shaped the contemporary world in countless ways redrawing boundaries and creating or reviving lines of ethnic conflict World at War Dakota Wardle,2018-05-02 A 13 year old girl named Lesa stuck in war time with just an uncle and two dogs she needs to meet some new people to stay alive she wants one of her dogs to be a war dog but that might not happen here or now Characters may change their style of living will never be what it used to be freinds will be lost along the way but there will always be love and freindship The World at War Gideon Rose,2016-11-14 Foreign Affairs and its parent organization the Council on Foreign Relations were founded in the early 1920s by veterans of the Woodrow Wilson administration s diplomatic and military efforts Shocked by the country s turn to isolationism in the wake of the Great War they followed with increasing dread the world s march toward yet another conflict during the 1930s The pages of the magazine tracked the rise of Adolf Hitler and the Nazis the growing conquests of imperial Japan the stirrings of military preparedness in Washington and ultimately the most devastating conflagration the globe has ever seen Seventy five years after the United States entered that war we offer this collection to showcase all that remarkable coverage giving today s readers a taste of how things looked to knowledgeable observers watching events in real time The Missionary Review of the World ,1917 Missouri School Journal ,1914 The World's Work ,1919 A history of our time The Standard ,1917 The American Artisan and Hardware Record ,1918 The Journals of Thomas James Cobden-Sanderson, 1879-1922 Thomas James Cobden-Sanderson,1926 The American Review of Reviews Albert Shaw,1915 Our War Too Margaret Paton-Walsh,2002 In the late 1930s a number of American women especially those allied with various peace and isolationist groups protested against the nation s entry into World War II While their story is fairly well known Margaret Paton Walsh reveals a far less familiar story of women who fervently felt that American intervention was absolutely necessary Paton Walsh recounts how the United States became involved in the war but does so through the eyes of American women who faced it as a necessary evil Covering the period between 1935 and 1941 she examines how these women functioned as political actors even though they were excluded from positions of power through activism in women s organizations informal women s networks and even male dominated lobbying groups In the Great Debate over whether America should enter the war some women favored aid to the Allies not because they hoped for war but because they hoped aid would forestall more direct U S involvement but also because they believed war was preferable to a Nazi victory Paton Walsh shows that this activism involved some of the most prominent women of their day Elizabeth Cutter Morrow whose son in law Charles Lindbergh was an isolationist spokesman supported the revision of the Neutrality Acts to allow the sale of arms to the Allies and expressed her support in a national radio broadcast Soon other women joined this debate Esther Brunauer of the AAUW journalist Dorothy Thompson and organizations like the League of Women Voters and National Women's Trade Union League broke from the pacifist tradition to advocate American aid for the Allied cause. Focusing on the conflict in Europe, Paton Walsh shows how these women grasped the implications of the Lend Lease program for America's entry into the war but supported it nevertheless. By late 1941 the Women's Division of the Fight for Freedom Committee had been established, no longer merely advocating aid to Britain to keep American boys out of battle; this organization supported direct American involvement in the war as a means of stopping Nazi oppression. While most historians have focused on women's pacifism, Paton Walsh connects women more directly to world events and shows how those interventionists reformulated maternalist ideas to justify and explain their beliefs. Our War Too is a story of American women trying to reconcile the irreconcilable to preserve both their principles and their peace. It expands our understanding of women as political actors and thinkers about foreign policy as it sheds new light on American public opinion over the build up to the war.
