Food in World History Jeffrey M. Pilcher,2017-05-25 The second edition of this concise survey offers a comparative and comprehensive study of culinary cultures and food politics throughout the world from ancient times to the present day. It examines the long history of globalization of foods as well as the political social and environmental implications of our changing relationship with food showing how hunger and taste have been driving forces in human history. Including numerous case studies from diverse societies and periods Food in World History explores such questions as What social factors have historically influenced culinary globalization? How did early modern plantations establish patterns for modern industrial food production? Were eighteenth century food riots comparable to contemporary social movements around food? Did Italian and Chinese migrant cooks sacrifice authenticity to gain social acceptance in the Americas? Have genetically modified foods fulfilled the promises made by proponents? This new edition includes expanded discussions of gender and the family indigeneity and the politics of food. Expanded chapters on contemporary food systems and culinary pluralism examine debates over the concentration of corporate control over seeds and marketing authenticity and exoticism within the culinary tourism industry and the impact of social media on restaurants and home cooks.

Science and Technology in World History, Volume 4 David Deming,2016-04-13 The history of science is a story of human discovery intertwined with religion philosophy economics and technology. The fourth in a series this book covers the beginnings of the modern world when 16th century Europeans began to realize that their scientific achievements surpassed those of the Greeks and Romans Western Civilization organized itself around the idea that human technological and moral progress was achievable and desirable Science emerged in 17th century Europe as scholars subordinated reason to empiricism Inspired by the example of physics men like Robert Boyle began the process of changing alchemy into the exact science of chemistry During the 18th century European society became more secular and tolerant Philosophers and economists developed many of the ideas underpinning modern social theories and economic policies As the Industrial Revolution fundamentally transformed the world by increasing productivity people became more affluent better educated and urbanized and the world entered an era of unprecedented prosperity and progress Science and Technology in World History, Volume 2 David Deming, 2014-01-10 Science is a living organic activity the meaning and understanding of which have evolved incrementally over human history This book the second in a roughly chronological series explores the evolution of science from the advents of Christianity and Islam through the Middle Ages focusing especially on the historical relationship between science and religion Specific topics include technological innovations during the Middle Ages Islamic science the Crusades Gothic cathedrals and the founding of Western universities Close attention is given to such figures as Paul the Apostle Hippolytus Lactantius Cyril of Alexandria Hypatia Cosmas Indicopleustes and the Prophet Mohammed

The Balkans in World History Andrew Baruch Wachtel, 2008-11-05 Eminent historian Andrew Wachtel here depicts the Balkans as that borderland geographical space in which four of the world's greatest civilizations have overlapped in a sustained and meaningful way to produce a complex dynamic sometimes combustible multi layered local civilization It is the space in which the cultures of ancient Greece and Rome of Byzantium of Ottoman Turkey and of Roman Catholic Europe met clashed and sometimes combined The history of the Balkans is thus a history of creative borrowing by local people of the various civilizations that have nominally conquered the region
