

Laboratory: Human Population Growth

Mrs. Côté

Answer Key

Enviro. Science 120

Pre Lab Work:

Before beginning this laboratory, answer the following questions on your own piece of paper in your notebook:

- Define the following terms:
 - growth rate – describes how fast a population is increasing or decreasing and is dependent upon the birth rate and death rate
 - birthrate – is the number of infants born in a given year/1000 people in the population
 - death rate – is the number of people who die in a given year/1000 individuals in the population
 - zero population growth – when the population is in equilibrium or the number of births and deaths are equal
 - developed country – countries that highly developed economy and advanced technology
 - developing country – countries that are considered to have low standard of living, and undeveloped industrially
 - demographic transition – refers to the transition from high birth and death rates to low birth and death rates
- What is a population explosion? How quickly is our population growing each year? What about each day?
A population explosion is when a population lacks limited resources so is able to grow out of control. The human population is grows about 80 million a year and 219, 178 each day.
- How is the growth rate of the human population calculated?
 $\text{Growth rate} = \text{birth rate} - \text{death rate}$
- What causes a negative population growth? What causes a positive population growth?
Negative population growth occurs when the birth rate is less than the death rate
Positive population growth occurs when the birth rate exceeds the death rate
- Why do the two graphs appear to have a different shape?
The population growth rate was much slower in the earlier years. The J-curve shows exponential population growth and the graphs are not drawn to the same scale.
- Using a piece of paper, create the following charts:

Country	Birthrate (%)	Death rate (%)	Population Growth 2005	Population Growth 2050	Demographic Transition	Relative Place in Transition	Sketch graph showing Blue & Pink Line
USA	2.06	0.51	0.92	-0.06	1.55	5

World Population Growth Lab Answers:

Global Science John W. Christensen, 2000 Asia's Energy Revolution Joseph Jacobelli, 2021-06-21 Asia is home to 60 per cent of the world's population including the world's two most populous nations China and India. The region's economic gains and rising middle class are accelerating demand for more consumer goods and a better quality of life. For further economic growth to be realised the region will need a massive supply of additional energy three to five fold 2020's amount by 2050. These changes create new business and investment opportunities for domestic companies and overseas participants. Asia's energy market already the world's biggest will soon be the most advanced. There will be mass adoption of digital technologies like artificial intelligence to make the distribution of solar wind and other clean resources smarter and more efficient. Led by China billions of dollars in capital investment will drive the region's shift to green sustainable energy replacing polluting and expensive fossil fuels which will help to rein in climate change. In Asia's Energy Revolution leading energy markets analyst and practitioner Joseph Jacobelli explains why Asia is the world's most important territory for energy transition how developments in the region will drive change in the rest of the world as well as how it will all be financed. The book discussion includes Analysis of past events and forward looking analysis of the industry in the region encompassing commercial economic and financial aspects Appraisal of new energy technologies such as electric vehicles and digital solutions such as blockchain for energy Review of the capital flows and sustainable financing channels needed to fund energy infrastructure and tech growth Industrial Arene Chemistry Jacques Mortier, 2023-03-17 Industrial Arene Chemistry Explore the wide array of uses for aromatic hydrocarbons in this comprehensive reference. Aromatics are a class of compounds normally but not exclusively organic which tend to be produced as by products of various industrial processes. Their importance as petrochemical materials in themselves along with the range of inter relations between different aromatic chemicals creates a complex and opportunity filled market for aromatics. Industrial Arene Chemistry provides a thorough look at the conventional techniques required to use and produce these aromatic hydrocarbons. Beginning with an overview of the global aromatic market including but not limited to manufacturers markets of BTX and downstream functional aromatics aromatics derived from renewable sources and economic forecasts the book will also explore the impact shifting environmental factors will have on the future of aromatic chemistry. The text further explores BTX production processes differentiated according to the raw materials used. Importantly this will establish the importance and growth of the biobased chemical industry. Industrial Arene Chemistry readers will also find Case studies that describe major elements of specific technologies prototyped by contributors companies as part of ongoing market development efforts. Process chapters that include summaries of the conventional techniques and a more detailed discussion of recent high impact studies. Recent advances in conventional aromatic reactions including alkylation acylation and carboxylation hydrogenation reduction oxidation nitration amination sulfonation and halogenation. Industrial Arene Chemistry is a useful reference for chemists and chemical engineers who work with aromatics

Designing Future Cities for Wellbeing Christopher T. Boyko,Rachel Cooper,Nick Dunn,2020-09-17 Designing Future Cities for Wellbeing draws on original research that brings together dimensions of cities we know have a bearing on our health and wellbeing including transportation housing energy and foodways and illustrates the role of design in delivering cities in the future that can enhance our health and wellbeing It aims to demonstrate that cities are a complex interplay of these various dimensions that both shape and are shaped by existing and emerging city structures governance design and planning Explaining how to consider these interconnecting dimensions in the way in which professionals and citizens think about and design the city for future generations health and wellbeing therefore is key The chapters draw on UK case and research examples and make comparison to international cities and examples This book will be of great interest to researchers and students in planning public policy public health and design Leapfrogging Africa Reiner Klingholz,Sabine Sütterlin,Alisa Kaps,Catherina Hinz,2020-10-15 In this study we look at the potential for development leaps in Africa in three key sectors that provided the basis for socioeconomic development around the world health education and agriculture Advances in these sectors increase the human capital create jobs and economic opportunities and have a positive influence on each other Healthy and well fed children can learn better hygiene and better medical care diminish infant mortality which reduces the desire for a large number of children education for women promotes gender equality and causes birth rates to fall further This creates a population structure under which the economy can grow particularly well a demographic dividend becomes possible Experiences in Environmental Science Barbara A. Over the past decade interest in plant biostimulants has been on the rise compelled by the growing interest of researchers extension specialists private industries and farmers in integrating these products in the array of environmentally friendly tools to secure improved crop performance nutrient efficiency product quality and yield stability Plant biostimulants include diverse organic and inorganic substances natural compounds and or beneficial microorganisms such as humic acids protein hydrolysates seaweed and plant extracts silicon endophytic fungi like mycorrhizal fungi and plant growth promoting rhizobacteria belonging to the genera Azospirillum Azotobacter and Rhizobium Other substances e g chitosan and other biopolymers and inorganic compounds can have biostimulant properties but their classification within the group of biostimulants is still under consideration Plant biostimulants are usually applied to high value crops mainly greenhouse crops fruit trees and vines open field crops flowers and ornamentals to sustainably increase yield and product quality The global biostimulant market is currently estimated at about 2 0 billion and is expected to reach 3 0 billion by 2021 at an annual growth rate of 13% A growing interest in plant biostimulants from industries and scientists was demonstrated by the high number of published peer reviewed articles conferences workshops and symposia in the past ten years This book compiles several original research articles technology reports methods opinions perspectives and invited reviews and mini reviews dissecting the biostimulatory action of these natural compounds and substances and beneficial microorganisms on crops grown under optimal and suboptimal growing conditions e g salinity drought nutrient deficiency and toxicity heavy metal contaminations waterlogging and adverse soil pH conditions Also included are contributions dealing with the effect as well as the molecular and physiological mechanisms of plant biostimulants on nutrient efficiency product quality and modulation of the microbial population both quantitatively and qualitatively In addition identification and understanding of the optimal method time rate of application and phenological stage for improving plant performance and resilience to stress as well as the best combinations of plant species cultivar environment management practices are also reported We strongly believe that high standard reflected in this compilation on the principles and practices of plant biostimulants will foster knowledge transfer among scientific communities industries and agronomists and will enable a better understanding of the mode of action and application procedures of biostimulants in different cropping systems
