This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can download a free scanned copy of the original book without typos from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1894. Excerpt: woods in order to get food for their families. Troops had no blankets and straw was not to be had. It was extremely sad but there was no wavering. Officers were approached by the enemy with from one hundred to one thousand pounds if they would accept and use their influence to effect a reconciliation but with blazing eye and unfaltering attitude each stated that he was not for sale and returned to his frozen mud hole to rest and dream of food and freedom. Those were the untitled nobility from whom we sprung. Let us look over our personal record and see if we are living lives that are worthy of such heroic sires. Five minutes will now be given the reader to make a careful examination of his personal record. In the spring the joyful news came across the sea that through the efforts of Benjamin Franklin France had acknowledged the independence of the United States and a fleet was on the way to assist the struggling troops. The battle of Monmouth occurred June 28. Clinton succeeded Howe and alarmed by the news of the French fleet the government ordered Clinton to concentrate his troops near New York where there were better facilities for getting home. Washington followed the enemy across New Jersey overtaking them at Monmouth. Lee was in command and got his men tangled in a swamp where the mosquitoes were quite plenty and losing courage ordered a retreat. Washington arrived at that moment and bitterly upbraided Lee. He used the Flanders method of upbraiding it is said and Lee could not stand it. He started towards the enemy in preference to being there with Washington who was still rebuking him. The fight was renewed and all day long they fought. When night came Clinton took his troops with him and went away where they could be by themselves.

You will also find several experiments that can be done at home.

In the current realm of education gamification has received significant attention for its power to shift the way we teach and learn. Gamification allows teachers and learners to experience a series of challenges that engage their minds, bodies, and spirits. Although gamification is not a new concept it has not been widely exposed to the higher level of education in the Indonesian EFL context. This book represents a further step to provide new learning practices for the sense of what learning is about.
