Murder in the Moat Veronica Parsons, 2012-11-08 Alwyston is a quaint and picturesque village in southern England It is away from the main thoroughfares and is accessed by one road that leads into and out of the town This is a narrow road lined with hedgerows and dry stone walls behind which lie ordered gardens stone cottages and gentle fields The local landscape also hides a rich archaeology The expectation of uncovering something of historical value brings many hopeful amateur archaeologists to the village each year A number of these are aging retired or semi retired and spend half the year in Alwyston and half the year in their native Australia As well as its archaeological attractions Alwyston holds the dubious record for having the highest murder rate in the country Conveniently for some these murders only occur in the warmer months the summer murdering season as the villagers say Accompanied by the requisite constabulary and an assortment of local identities the part time denizens of the village and their friends have solved both archaeological and homicidal mysteries in the past They fully and enthusiastically intend to do so again in spite of their advancing years and other impediments Madgery Ashfield a retired psychologist from Australia arrives in Alwyston in early spring to find her close friend Winnie already ensconced in the village Winnie is staying in the local pub owned by Madgery s good friend Cedric Drury She is there for the summer to explore her ancestry in the area As well as owning the pub Cedric has been an art importer exporter and an employee of the FBI Because of this experience detectives from Scotland Yard and Interpol often
