SEX Flávio Gikovate, 2011-06-20 Sex is one of the topics most spoken and written about According to Gikovate this is a sign that it is still poorly understood and far from a satisfactory resolution As such in this book he rethinks several myths and half truths about sex and addresses controversial issues Based on his believe that sex and love are two autonomous and often antagonistic impulses Gikovate points out the strong association between sexuality and aggressiveness especially in men At the same time he shows that desire and arousal are very different phenomena while the first is elitist based on elements of a consumer society that is almost out of control the second is a democratic pleasure easily attainable by all Gikovate proposes that we reconsider our current worshipping of desire since it serves to valorise casual sex preserve selfishness and promote emotional immaturity things that decent people have been trying to free themselves of for the longest time

Race, Rape, and Injustice Michael Meltsner, Barrett J. Foerster, 2012-12-15 This book tells the dramatic story of twenty eight law students one of whom was the author who went south at the height of the civil rights era and helped change death penalty jurisprudence forever The 1965 project was organized by the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund which sought to prove statistically whether capital punishment in southern rape cases had been applied discriminatorily over the previous twenty years If the research showed that a disproportionate number of African Americans convicted of raping white women had received the death penalty regardless of nonracial variables such as the degree of violence used then capital punishment in the South could be abolished as a clear violation of the Fourteenth Amendment s Equal Protection Clause Targeting eleven states the students cautiously made their way past suspicious court clerks lawyers and judges to secure the necessary data from dusty courthouse records Trying to attract as little attention as possible they managed amazingly to complete their task without suffering serious harm at the hands of white supremacists Their findings then went to University of Pennsylvania criminologist Marvin Wolfgang who compiled and analyzed the data for use in court challenges to death penalty convictions The result was powerful evidence that thousands of jurors had voted on racial grounds in rape cases This book not only tells Barrett Foerster's and his teammates story but also examines how the findings were used before a U S Supreme Court resistant to numbers based arguments and reluctant to admit that the justice system had executed hundreds of men because of their skin color Most important it illuminates the role the project played in the landmark Furman v Georgia case which led to a four year cessation of capital punishment and a more limited set of death laws aimed at constraining racial discrimination A Virginia native who studied law at UCLA BARRETT J FOERSTER 1942-2010 was a judge in the Superior Court in Imperial County California MICHAEL MELTSNER is the George J and Kathleen Waters Matthews Distinguished Professor of Law at Northeastern University During the 1960s he was first assistant counsel to the NAACP Legal Defense Fund His books include The Making of a Civil Rights Lawyer and Cruel and Unusual The Supreme Court and Capital Punishment Couple Observational Coding Systems Patricia K.
