clean and renewable energy in developing countries reached 10.9 billion in 2019, a 23.6% decrease from 2018. This decline occurred even before the onset of the COVID-19 pandemic. Over a longer five-year moving average, average annual commitments decreased for the first time since 2008, from 17.5 billion in 2014 to 16.6 billion in 2015. Although developing countries achieved a record of 245.7 watts per capita in installed renewable energy generating capacity in 2020, small island developing States, least developed countries, and landlocked developing countries have lagged behind. It would take least developed countries and landlocked developing countries nearly 40 years and small island developing States almost 15 years to reach the same level of progress as the average developing country in 2020. The 2023 SEDRC conference, titled Sustainable Development and Education, aims to redefine the understanding of research in the continent's development and the role of researchers. The conference focusses on applied research discussions and its dissemination. Researchers from research institutions, academicians, postgraduate students, politicians, and industry representatives will be the primary audience for the conference proceedings.

War, Women and Post-conflict Empowerment Josephine Beoku-Betts, Fredline A. M'Cormack-Hale, 2022-01-13. Since the 1991-2002 civil conflict ended in Sierra Leone, the country has failed to translate the accomplishments of women's involvement in bringing the war to an end into meaningful political empowerment. This is in marked contrast to other post-conflict countries which have increased the political participation of women in elected and appointed office, increased the representation of women in leadership positions, and enacted constitutional reforms promoting women's rights. Written by Sierra Leonean and Africanist scholars and experts from a broad range of disciplines, this unique volume analyses the historical and contextual factors influencing women's political, economic, and social development in the country. In drawing on a diverse array of case studies from health to education, refugees to international donors, the contradictions, successes, and challenges of women's lives in a post-conflict environment are revealed, making this an essential book for anyone involved in women and development.

The Diverse Facets of Corruption in Sierra Leone Emmanuel Saffa Abdulai, Ina Kubbe, 2024-07-15. This edited volume delves into Sierra Leone's complex post-conflict landscape. It posits that the nation's path to peace and stability hinges on robust anticorruption measures. The chapters explore Sierra Leoneans' unique perception of corruption, reflecting its political, economic, legal, and socio-cultural dimensions. Moving away from mere theoretical abstraction, the book pulls together fascinating practical discussions on the success and challenges of anti-corruption tools used in Sierra Leone. Approaches used to explain corruption in this postwar fragile democratic country include issues like non-conviction based asset recovery and how it works, unexplained wealth, exposes lifestyle offences, accountability of the judiciary, and how judicial institutions can become a predator, the role of the media in the fight against corruption, the part of culture and history in engraining corruption, patrimonialism as an explanation of corruption, and social norms and sociological exposition to explain corruption.

Transforming Healthcare in Africa Robert Dibie, 2025-01-14 The current available books and literature that shed light on health policies in many African countries are limited Transforming Healthcare in Africa A Comparative Analysis by Professor Robert Dibie examines the key players in the health system game in many African countries It explores the regulatory regimes that impact the health systems such as the Ministry of Health It also provides few case studies of the relationship between the government the environment and their citizens Apart from filling the gap in the healthcare policy in African literature the authors also seek to examine the impacts of weak health policies and the inability to effectively formulate solid initiatives for capacity building that could lead to enhanced healthcare delivery for all their citizens Thus Dibié's book provides evidence to inform scholarly discussion on the best approaches to strengthen healthcare delivery and public health capacity in many African countries The book also sought to answer six research questions 1 How is healthcare delivery perceived by African countries 2 How are healthcare policies implemented in urban and rural regions or local governments in African countries 3 To what extent are current health services delivered to respond to all citizens needs in African countries 4 What is the current capacity for rural or local governments to effectively engage in health service delivery 5 How can citizens living in rural and urban regions be empowered in the health development delivery system and 6 Which is the best evidence based management system adopted to improve affordable healthcare system in many African countries It also fills the gap in the literature of health systems in Africa
