Wilson,2012-08-21 Modelling the City examines the changing role of urban models in respect to both the need to readdress measures of urban well being and the perceived need to bring model outputs more in tune with key planning problems The authors argue that whilst there has been substantial progress with a wide range of theoretical problems in urban modelling modellers have not paid enough attention to the usefulness of their model outputs in terms of indicators which offer new insights into the workings of the city or region Modelling the City offers a new geography of performance indicators for the public and private sector based on the principles of spatial interaction Geographies of Sexualities Dr Gavin Brown,Dr Jason Lim,Professor Kath Browne,2012-11-28 Recent years have seen a dramatic upsurge of interest in the connections between sexualities space and place Drawing established and founding figures of the field together with emerging authors this innovative volume offers a broad interdisciplinary and international overview of the geographies of sexualities Incorporating a discussion of queer geographies Geographies of Sexualities engages with cutting edge agendas and challenges the orthodoxies within geography regarding spatialities and sexualities It contains original and previously unpublished material that spans the often separated areas of theory practices and politics This innovative volume offers a trans disciplinary engagement with the spatialities of sexualities intersecting discussions of sexualities with issues such as development race gender and other forms of social difference Marxism and the City Ira Katznelson,1992-03-05 Defeated in the East and discredited in the West Marxism has broken down as an ideology and as a guide to governance But for all its flaws it remains an important tool for understanding and raising questions about key aspects of modern life In Marxism and the City Ira Katznelson critically assesses the scholarship on cities that has developed within Marxism in the past quarter century to show how some of the most important weaknesses in Marxism as a social theory can be remedied by forcing it to engage seriously with cities and spatial concerns He argues that such a Marxism still has a significant contribution to make to the discussion of such historical questions as the transition from feudalism to a world composed of capitalist economies and nation states and the acquiescence of the western working classes to capitalism Professor Katznelson demonstrates how a Marxism that embraces complexity and is open to engagement with other social theoretical traditions can illuminate our understanding of cities and of the patterns of class and group formation that have characterized urban life in the West
