Histoire romaine de Tite Live Livy, 1830 Histoire romaine de Tite-Live Tite-Live, 1738 Livy's Written Rome

Mary Jaeger, 1997 The modern age is not the only one in which Romans and visitors to Rome have been fascinated with the city's striking juxtapositions of past and present. Rome's wealth of history also captured the imagination of the ancients. Livy's Written Rome by Mary Jaeger shows how one writer explored the relationship between events in Roman history, the landscape in which they occurred, and the monuments that commemorated them. While Augustus reconstructed the physical city to reflect the ideology of the Empire, the historian Livy created a written Rome and taught his readers to look beyond the city's dramatically altered landscape. In so doing, they gained insight into the lessons of the lost Republic. Drawing upon modern discourse on the connection between private mental spaces and public civic spaces, this first in-depth study of Livy's use of the urban landscape offers discerning views on his interpretation of ancient theories of historiography. Livy's Written Rome discusses the Roman idea of the monument as a place where memory and space intersect and includes fresh readings of several historical episodes, including the battle over the Sabine Women, the sedition of Marcus Manlius, and the trials of the Scipios. Scholars have long criticized Livy as a historian because his work is not in accord with modern historiographical standards. Yet even his critics agree that Livy is a masterful literary artist, and recent work on Livy has argued for the complexity and originality of his thought. Across the humanities, recent scholarship has focused on the role of memory in civic consciousness and identity. This book explores the ways in which Livy's texts question traditional assumptions about the preservation and use of the past. In doing so, it identifies a new and important facet of Livy's representation of urban Rome. Livy's Written Rome will be of interest to classicists and historians, students of ancient historiography and classical rhetoric, as well as general readers interested in memory, monuments, and historical narrative. Mary Jaeger is Professor of Classics, University of Oregon.

Dechiffrements / Decipherments Francoise Briquel Chatonnet, Celine Ramio, 2022-10-10 Did the men and women of antiquity hear as we do? Which sonorities were particularly significant to them? These simple questions remind us that sounds, as well as their possible interpretations, are embedded in cultural constructions so that the definitions of cacophony and music, of noise and silence, vary both over time and from one context to another. The historicity of such ideas is at the heart of this book, which explores the ways in which sounds or their absence became meaningful in the ancient Eastern, Egyptian, Greek, and Roman worlds. Behind the sweeping chronological arc lies a common objective: the study of terms and expressions related to sounds. This book analyzes this verbal corpus with an historical approach influenced by the anthropology of sound The papers collected here invite the reader to listen carefully to ancient words and by focusing on ancient discourses grasp the complexity of social political and religious values carried by sounds in particular settings

Livy: Ab urbe condita Book XXII

John Briscoe, Simon Hornblower, 2020-10-29 Livy's Ab urbe condita Book XXII narrates Hannibal's massive defeats of the Romans at Trasimene 217 BC and Cannae 216 BC It is Livy's best and most dramatic book and the one most likely to appeal to students at every level Livy drew on the Greek historian Polybius but transformed his drier treatment into a rhetorical masterpiece which by a series of insistent thematic contrasts brings out the tensions between the delaying tactics of Fabius and the costly rashness of Flaminius Minucius and Varro A substantial and accessibly written introduction by two experienced commentators covers historical religious literary and linguistic matters including the place of Book XXII in the structure of Livy's long work A new text by Briscoe is followed by a full commentary covering literary and historical aspects and offering frequent help with translation The volume is suitable for undergraduates graduate students teachers and scholars
