Climate change and health vulnerability and adaptation assessment, 2021-10-07 An Ethnographic Approach to Peacebuilding Gearoid Millar, 2014-04-24 This book aims to outline and promote an ethnographic approach to evaluating international peacebuilding interventions in transitional states While the evaluation of peacebuilding and transitional justice efforts has been a growing concern in recent years too often evaluations assess projects based on locally irrelevant measures reinforce the status quo distribution of power in transitional situations and uncritically accept the implicit conceptions of the funders planners and administrators of such projects This book argues that evaluating the effects of peacebuilding interventions demands an understanding of the local and culturally variable context of intervention Throughout the book the author draws on real world examples from extensive fieldwork in Sierra Leone to argue that local experiences should be considered the primary measure of a peacebuilding project s success An ethnographic approach recognizes diversity in conceptions of peace justice development and reconciliation and takes local approaches and local critiques of the international agenda seriously It can help to empower local actors hold the international peacebuilding industry accountable to its supposed beneficiaries and challenge the Western centric ideas of what peace entails and how peacebuilding is achieved This book will be of much interest to students and scholars of peacebuilding peace and conflict studies transitional justice African politics ethnography International Relations and security studies as well as practitioners working in the field
