Nafziger, 2017-12-29 The topical chapters in this cutting edge collection at the intersection of comparative law and anthropology explore the mutually enriching insights and outlooks of the two fields Comparative Law and Anthropology adopts a foundational approach to social and cultural issues and their resolution rather than relying on unified paradigms of research or unified objects of study Taken together the contributions extend long developing trends from legal anthropology to an anthropology of law and from externally imposed to internally generated interpretations of norms and processes of legal significance within particular cultures The book s expansive conceptualization of comparative law encompasses not only its traditional geographical orientation but also historical and jurisprudential dimensions It is also noteworthy in blending the expertise of long established acclaimed scholars with new voices from a range of disciplines and backgrounds

DIY Urbanism in Africa Stephen Marr, Patience Mususa, 2023-11-02 Protracted economic crises accelerating inequalities and increased resource scarcity present significant challenges for the majority of Africa s urban population Limited state capacity and widespread infrastructure deficiencies common in cities across the continent often require residents to draw on their own resources knowledge and expertise to resolve these life and livelihood dilemmas DIY Urbanism in Africa investigates these practices It develops a theoretical framework through which to analyze them and it presents a series of case studies to demonstrate how residents invent new DIY tactics and strategies in response to security place making or economic problems

This book offers a timely critical intervention into literatures on urban development and politics in Africa. It is valuable to students, policymakers and urban practitioners keen to understand the mechanisms and political implications of widespread dynamics now shaping Africa's expanding urban environments. Affective Encounters Di Wu, 2020-08-17. Against the background of China's rapidly growing and sometimes highly controversial activities in Africa, this book is among the first of its kind to systematically document Sino-African interactions at the everyday level. Based on sixteen months of ethnographic fieldwork at two contrasting sites in Lusaka, Zambia: a Chinese state-sponsored educational farm and a private Chinese family farm, Di Wu focuses on daily interactions among Chinese migrants and their Zambian hosts. Daily communicative events, e.g. banquets, market negotiations, work place disputes and various social encounters across a range of settings are used to trace the essential role that emotion and affect plays in forming and reproducing social relations and group identities among Chinese migrants. Wu suggests that affective encounters in everyday situations as well as failed attempts to generate affect should not be overlooked in order to fully appreciate Sino-African interactions. Deeply researched and with rich ethnographic detail, this book will be relevant to scholars of anthropology, international development and others interested in Sino-African relations.

Economy in Africa Horman Chitonge, 2021-02-15. Industrial Policy and the Transformation of the Colonial Economy in Africa offers an in-depth analysis of the role industrial policy can play in the transformation of African economies. Using examples from Zambia's industrial development experience, this book illustrates that core features of the colonial economy have not just survived six decades of independence in most African countries but they have continued to shape the nature, scope and pace of economic activities on the continent. The book argues that since the colonial economy in Africa was not intended to serve the interests of Africans it is imperative that the structures and the underlying rationale of the colonial economy are radically reoriented if economic activities in Africa are to benefit the majority of Africans Drawing from the Zambian experience the book shows that the transformation of the colonial economy in Africa is urgently needed Whilst this has proved to be difficult over the past six decades it can be done The book outlines a specific type of industrial policy Frontier Industrial Policy as a key instrument for transforming the structure of African economies At a time when economic growth across Africa is under considerable pressure due to COVID 19 the insights in this book will be of interest to researchers across Economics Development Postcolonial Studies and African Studies Democracy and Electoral Politics in Zambia

Shearer,2025 A free ebook version of this title is available through Luminos University of California Press's Open Access publishing program Visit www.luminosoa.org to learn more In the first decade of the twenty first century the government of Rwanda hired American and Singaporean design firms to transform the image of Kigali from a wounded city into a competitive destination for foreign investment The firms produced promotional images of a post conflict tabula rasa waiting to be rebuilt by foreign investors as an urban solution to climate change However to make this marketing image real much of the actual city would need to be destroyed and its residents converted to consumers of green housing and service delivery systems Kigali is an ethnography of a city that is being destroyed so that it can be rebuilt for the end of the world Drawing on years of ethnographic fieldwork with Kigali residents as they navigate the catastrophes induced by sustainable urbanism this book offers a searing critique of capitalist solutions to climate change and an account of the city's popular alternatives to sustainable urbanism

Rule of Law, Human Rights and Judicial Control of Power Rainer Arnold, José Ignacio Martínez-Estay, 2017-05-16 Judicial control of public power ensures a guarantee of the rule of law This book addresses the scope and limits of judicial control at the national level i.e. the control of public authorities and at the supranational level i.e. the control of States It explores the risk of judicial review leading to judicial activism that can threaten the principle of the separation of powers or the legitimate exercise of state powers It analyzes how national and supranational legal systems have embodied certain mechanisms such as the principles of reasonableness proportionality deference and margin of appreciation as well as the horizontal effects of human rights that help to determine how far a judge can go Taking a theoretical and comparative view the book first examines the conceptual bases of the various control systems and then studies the models structural elements and functions of the control instruments in selected countries and regions It uses country and regional reports as the basis for the comparison of the convergences and divergences of the implementation of control in certain countries of Europe Latin America and Africa The book's theoretical reflections and comparative investigations provide answers to important questions such as whether or not there are nascent universal principles concerning the control of public power how strong the impact of particular legal traditions is and to what extent international law concepts have had harmonizing and strengthening effects on internal public power control

Postcolonial Legality: Law, Power and Politics in Zambia Jeremy Gould, 2023-03-24 This book interrogates the ideology and practices of liberal constitutionalism in the Zambian postcolony The analysis focuses on the residual political and governmental effects of an imperial form of power embodied in the person of the republican president termed here prerogativism Through systematic long term ethnographic engagement with Zambian constitutionalist activists lawyers judges and civic leaders the study examines how prerogativism has shaped the postcolonial political landscape and limited the possibilities of constitutional liberalism This is revealed in the ways that repeated efforts to reform the constitution have sidelined popular participation and thus failed to address the deep divide between a small elite stratum from which the constitutional activists are drawn and the marginalized masses of the population Along the way the study documents the intimate interpenetration of political and legal action and examines how prerogativism delimits the political engagements of elite actors Special attention is given to the reluctance of legal activists to engage with popular politics and to the conservative ethos that undermines efforts to pursue a jurisprudence of transformational constitutionalism in the findings of the Constitutional Court The work contributes to the rising interest in applying socio legal analysis to the statutory domain in postcolonial jurisdictions It offers a pioneering attempt to deconstruct the amorphous and ambivalent assemblage of ideas and practices related to constitutionalism through detailed ethnographic interrogation It will appeal to scholars students and practitioners with an interest in theorizing challenges to political liberalism in postcolonial contexts as well as in rethinking the methodological toolbox of socio legal analysis     Politics, Christianity and Society in Malawi R.
