United Nations World Water Development Report:

The United Nations World Water Development Report 3 World Water Assessment Programme, 2012-05-23 The United Nations World Water Development Report published every three years is a comprehensive review providing an authoritative picture of the state of the world's freshwater resources. It offers best practices as well as in-depth theoretical analyses to help stimulate ideas and actions for better stewardship in the water sector. It is the only report of its kind resulting from the collaboration and contributions of the 26 UN agencies commissions, program funds, secretariats and conventions that have a significant role in addressing global water concerns. The news media are full of talk of crises in climate change, energy and food and troubled financial markets. These crises are linked to each other and to water resources management. Unresolved, they may lead to increasing political insecurity and conflict. Water is required to meet our fundamental needs and rising living standards and to sustain our planet's fragile ecosystems. Pressures on the resource come from a growing and mobile population, social and cultural change, economic development and technological change. Adding complexity and risk is climate change with impacts on the resource as well as on the sources of pressure on water. The challenges, though substantial, are not insurmountable. The Report shows how some countries have responded. Progress in providing drinking water is heartening with the Millennium Development Goal target on track in most regions. But other areas remain unaddressed and after decades of inaction the problems in water systems are enormous and will worsen if left unattended. Leaders in the water sector can inform decisions outside their domain and manage water resources to achieve agreed socioeconomic objectives and environmental integrity. Leaders in government, the private sector and civil society determine these objectives and allocate human and financial resources to meet them. Recognizing this responsibility, they must act now. The United Nations World Water Development Report UNESCO World Water Assessment Programme, 2021-03-22 Water is a finite and non-substitutable resource. As the foundation of life, societies and economies, it carries multiple values and benefits. But unlike most other natural resources, it has proven extremely difficult to determine its true value. The 2021 edition of the United Nations World Water Development Report titled Valuing Water assesses the current status of and challenges to the valuation of water across different sectors and perspectives and identifies ways in which valuation can be promoted as a tool to help improve its management and achieve global sustainable development.

The United Nations World Water Development Report Connor, Richard, Koncagül, Engin, UNESCO, UNESCO World Water Assessment Programme, 2014-03-18 The WWDR 2014 on Water and Energy is now an annual and thematic report with a focus on different strategic water issues each year. It is shorter in the order of 100 pages with a standardized structure and data and case studies annexes related to the theme. The WWDR 2014 will be launched during the main World Water Day celebrations in Tokyo, Japan on 21 March 2014. Water and energy are closely interconnected and highly interdependent. Trade-offs need to be managed to limit negative impacts and foster opportunities for synergy. Water and energy have crucial impacts on poverty alleviation both directly as a number of the Millennium Development Goals depend on major improvements in access to water, sanitation, power and energy sources and indirectly as water and energy can be binding constraints on economic growth, the ultimate hope for widespread poverty reduction. This fifth edition of the United Nations World Water Development Report WWDR 2014 seeks to inform decision makers. The United Nations World Water

World Water Development Report UNESCO World Water Assessment Programme, 2014-03-02 Accounting for approximately 99% of all liquid freshwater on Earth, groundwater has the potential to provide societies with tremendous social, economic and environmental benefits and opportunities. However, this natural resource is often poorly understood and consequently undervalued, mismanaged and even abused. In spite of its overall abundance, groundwater remains vulnerable to over-exploitation and pollution, both of which can have devastating effects on the resource and its availability. In the context of growing water scarcity across many parts of the world, the enormous potential of groundwater and the need to manage it sustainably can no longer be overlooked. The 2022 edition of The United Nations World Water Development Report describes the challenges and opportunities associated with the development, management and governance of groundwater across the world. WWAP, UNESCO, 2019-03-15 The United Nations World Water Assessment Programme WWAP is hosted and led by UNESCO. WWAP brings together the work of 31 UN Water Members and 38 Partners to publish The United Nations World Water Development Report WWDR series. The annual World Water Development Reports focus on strategic water issues. UN Water Members and Partners, all experts in their respective fields, contribute the latest findings on a specific theme. The 2019 edition of the World Water Development Report focuses on Wastewater and seeks to inform decision makers inside and outside the water community about the importance of managing wastewater as an undervalued and sustainable source of water energy nutrients and other recoverable by products rather than something to be disposed of or a nuisance to be ignored The report s title Wastewater The Untapped Resource reflects the critical role that wastewater is poised to play in the context of a circular economy whereby economic development is balanced with the protection of natural resources and environmental sustainability and where a cleaner and more sustainable economy has a positive effect on the water quality Improved wastewater management is not only critical to achieving the Sustainable Development Goal on clean water and sanitation SDG 6 but also to other goals of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development Managing Water Under Uncertainty and Risk: United Nations World Water Development Report #4 (3 Vols.) UNESCO,2012-01-01 Released every three years since March 2003 the United Nations World Water Development Report WWDR a flagship UN Water report published by UNESCO has become the voice of the United Nations system in terms of the state use and management of the world s freshwater resources The report is primarily targeted at national decision makers and water resource managers but is also aimed at educating and informing a broader audience from governments to the private sector and civil society It underlines the important roles water plays in all social economic and environmental decisions highlighting policy implications across various sectors from local and municipal to regional and international levels Similarly to the first two editions this report includes a comprehensive and up to date assessment of several key challenge areas such as water for food energy and human health and governance challenges such as institutional reform knowledge and capacity building and financing each produced by individual UN agencies The United Nations world water development report 2016: water and jobs UNESCO,2016-02-29 The United Nations World Water Assessment Programme WWAP is hosted and led by UNESCO WWAP brings together the work of 31 UN Water Members as well as 38 Partners to publish The United Nations World Water Development Report WWDR series The annual World Water Development Reports focus on strategic water issues UN Water Members and Partners all experts in their fields contribute with latest findings on a specific theme This edition of the World Water Development Report focuses on Water and Jobs and seeks to inform decision makers inside and outside the water community about the importance of the water and jobs nexus for the social and economic development and environmental sustainability of countries rich and poor The importance of water for jobs across economies is such that this report could be subtitled No water No jobs Indeed a great majority of jobs are dependent upon water and therefore increasingly at risk under conditions of water scarcity T The United Nations world water development report 2018 WWAP,2018-03-26 The United Nations World Water Development Report - N° 3 - 2009 - Institutional Capacity Development in Transboundary Waters Vollmer, Ruth,Ardakanian, Reza,Hare, Matt,Leentvaar, Jan,Schaaf, Charlotte van der,Wirkus, Lars, The United Nations World Water Development Report - N° 3 - 2009 - Updating the international water events database De Stefano, Lucia,De Silva, Lynette,Edwards, Paris,Wolf, Aaron T.,WWAP,2009 The United Nations world water
