Handbook of Research on the Global View of Open Access and Scholarly Communications Alemneh, Daniel Gelaw, 2022-04-29 In an information and knowledge society access to information and knowledge is a basic human right making equitable and fair access to information and knowledge paramount. Open Access OA plays a huge role in addressing inequities as well as broad based and inclusive scientific progress. On the surface the number of publications discussing OA issues from various angles are on the rise. However what is missing is a comprehensive assessment of the extent of OA implementation and a discussion of how to proceed in integrating OA issues from various perspectives The Handbook of Research on the Global View of Open Access and Scholarly Communications articulates OA concepts and issues while demystifying the state of the art knowledge domain in the areas of OA and scholarly communications from diverse perspectives as well as implications for the information and knowledge society Covering topics such as ethics copyright challenges and open access initiatives this book is a dynamic resource for publishers librarians higher education administrators policymakers students and educators of higher education researchers and academicians

Current Topics in the Utilization of Clay in Industrial and Medical Applications Mansoor Zoveidavianpoor, 2018 Clay and clay minerals have always been used since the ancient times for making ceramic materials and also as a building material Over the past decades there has been a growing trend in their applicability in different areas such as industries environmental remediation and water treatment sectors The growing trend is mainly associated with the fact that they are chemically and mechanically stable have higher specific surface area and cation exchange capacity Furthermore clays can be modified to improve their functionalities in different sectors In this chapter we present a review of the structural mineralogical and chemical properties of clay and the effect of surface modification in their structures We further looked at their applicability in arsenic and fluoride removal in their raw and also in their modified form Although the literature showed that modified clay minerals yields higher adsorption capacity as compared to raw clays little nothing has been reported yet in relation to the cost of modifying clays with chemical species As such new studies should also elaborate on the cost effectiveness of modifying clay minerals with chemical species

Proceedings of the International Conference on Education Research Reza Hosseini, Language and Institutional Identity in the Post-Apartheid South African Higher Education Leketi Makalela, 2022-03-21 This book examines the intersections between education identity formation and language in post apartheid South Africa with specific attention to higher education It does so against the backdrop of the core argument that the sector plays a critical role in shaping re producing and perpetuating sectoral class sub national and national identities which in turn in the peculiar South African setting are almost invariably analogous with the historical fault lines determined and dictated by language as a marker of ethnic and racial identity The chapters in the book grapple with the nuances related to these intersections in the understanding that higher education language policies overt and or covert largely structure institutional cultures or what has been described as curriculum in higher education institutions Together the chapters examine the roles played by higher education by language policies and by the intersections of these policies and ethnolinguistic identities in either constructing and perpetuating or deconstructing ethnolinguistic identities upon which the sector was founded The introductory chapter lays out the background to the entire book with an emphasis on the policy and practice perspectives on the intersections The middle chapters describe the so called White Universities Black Universities and Middle Man Minorities Universities The final chapter maps out future directions of the discourses on language and identity formation in South Africa s higher education

The Urban Ecologies of Divided Cities Amira Osman, John

Nagle, Sabyasachi Tripathi, 2023-06-12 The book discusses how division affects the fabric of cities and people's sense of identity and agency and are reflected in physical features architecture and urban planning The question of divided cities represents a complex and multistranded urban Ecology at once both social and spatial it cannot be limited to a single science or discipline such as social or spatial fields This suggests integrated and cross disciplinary understandings as well as integrated or parallel approaches and solutions Urban ecologies of division manifest in multiple forms One of their most palpable expressions is conflict with parallels around the world and often with correlations in the spatial fabric Violence in such contexts is often a surface expression of deeper socio economic or ideological differences Whether as a result of intervention by authority or by dissent between groups a divided city inevitably becomes a place of conflict in various forms and intensity eroding the joy of living and sense of collective belonging to the detriment of all In effect it erodes the collective advantage of being part of a more unified society A city exists in collections of social structures which mutually form a society A divided city implies divided social structures and in consequence a divided society The papers compiled in this book present many case studies of divided cities discussing the different causes of divisions and their effects on societies Some of the causes can be linked to conflicts wars colonialism or legislative political systems In response to the serious challenges resulting from these divisions the book aims to provide opportunities for new approaches and possibilities for new interventions and solutions making it significant to urban planners architects and policymakers Africa and the Sustainable Development Goals

Maano Ramutsindela, David Mickler, 2019-06-13 The book draws upon the expertise and international research collaborations forged by the Worldwide Universities Network Global Africa Group to critically engage with the intersection in theory and practice of the Sustainable Development Goals SDGs and Africa's development agendas and needs Further it argues that and demonstrates how the SDGs should be understood as an aspirational blueprint for development with multiple meanings that are situated in dynamic and contested terrains As the SDGs have substantial implications for development policy and resourcing at both the macro and micro levels their relevance is not only context specific but should also be assessed in terms of the aspirations and needs of ordinary citizens across the continent Drawing on analyses and evidence from both the natural and social sciences the book demonstrates that progress towards the SDGs must meet demands for improving human well being under diverse and challenging socio economic political and environmental conditions Examples include those from the mining industry public health employment and the media In closing it highlights how international collaboration in the form of research networks can enhance the production of critical knowledge on and engagement with the SDGs in Africa Innovation and Development of Agricultural Systems Phokele Maponya, Ndivhuho Tshikovhi, Fulufhelo Netswera, 2024 Zusammenfassung This book focuses on innovations in agriculture that is aimed at eliminating global hunger and poverty and promoting sustainable development of global agriculture Collectively chapters in the book address innovations of BRICS Agricultural Food System future actions of BRICS
