Non-biomedical Perspectives on Pain and its Prevention and Management Mark I. Johnson,James Woodall,Emmanouil Georgiadis ,Antonio Bonacaro,Isobel Jacob,2024-06-06 Overreliance on the biomedical paradigm has contributed in part to illogical use of surgery and long term opioid medication with harmful physical psychological social and economic consequences Pain literature is dominated by biomedical research at the expense of a holistic understanding of the lived experience of pain Pain practice seems overly consumed with the burden of pain at an individual level patient centred pain management and has neglected exploration of societal level community centred or environmental level ecologically centred solutions

Universities and the Myth of Cultural Decline Jerry Herron,1988 Jerry Herron argues that the vision of culture as an end in itself has been all too thoroughly fulfilled in the present state of humanities education but only because the humanities have lost their social function In this book he attempts to provide a constructive alternative to the nostalgia and pessimism currently prevailing In Herron s view the humanities are not really irrelevant it is that the intellectual and political conversation that they represent is only latent rather than publicly manifest The humanities can only be justified in a world of work and power by proving useful in that world The academic humanities harbor a general intellectual conversation that could potentially be interesting and even useful to society at large Arguing that the prevailing analyses are wide of the mark Herron recommends that universities undertake to promote a new cultural literacy Based on a collaborative enterprise open to all its focus is the effective sharing of information and experience

Personal Wealth from a Global Perspective James B. Davies,2008-11-13

There is great media fascination in the activities and lifestyles of the super rich But personal wealth is also important for those of more modest means as a store of potential consumption as a cushion against emergencies and as collateral for business and investment loans This book is the first global study of household assets and debts It documents not only the level distribution and trend of wealth holdings in rich nations but also addresses developing countries like China and India The situation in Latin America and Africa is given attention along with the experiences of Russia and other transition countries Components of household wealth like financial assets land and property are examined as well as the gender division Worldwide it is estimated that the richest 2% own more than half of total global wealth and that this elite group resides almost exclusively in North America Western Europe and rich Asia Pacific countries From Antietam to

Appomattox with Upton's Regulars Dewitt Clinton Beckwith, 2023-05-12 Thirty years after the Civil War the 121st New York Volunteers Upton's Regulars finally published a history of their regiment Its stated author was a man who had not served directly with the 121st but had based the book on a memoir written by a survivor who had enlisted at age 15 That boy Dewitt Clinton Beckwith published his memoir thirty years after the war in an obscure upstate New York newspaper The Hekrimer Democrat For years the origin story lay hidden in plain sight until editor Salvatore Cilella discovered it while researching for a regimental history The original 53 weekly installments edited and annotated here richly detail the horrors and folly of war They reveal the slow maturation of a boy thrust into almost four years of war Beckwith was present at nearly all the historic Eastern Theater engagements from Antietam to Appomattox including an abortive stint with the 91st New York in Florida in 1861 He describes his various Tom Sawyer like adventures with the VI Corps of the Army of the Potomac dealing with death disease loss and ultimate elation at Lee's surrender tempered only by Abraham Lincoln's death

Received British Library. Lending Division, 1984 The Broken Cisterns of African American Education M. Christopher Brown, RoSusan D. Bartee, 2008-12-01 The failure of American education to achieve racial diversity has resulted from the inability of educational researchers policy makers and judicial officials to disentangle the complex definitions that have emerged in a post segregated society More specifically the capricious aim of post segregated educational settings leads to the confusing and often conflicting interchangeable usage of terms desegregated integrated and diversity This ambiguity is further confounded by the imprecise definitions of equity equality and opportunity The proposed book will examine the role of language post Brown v Board of Education and the effects of that language on educational policy and practice He also examines how the fundamental implications of language within post Brown court cases in pre through post secondary education demonstrate the unspecified outcomes for desegregation and integration while concomitantly demand an educational continuum of equitable distribution The arguments will further interrogate how education policy and practices implicitly contain a scholarly roadmap to forge equal opportunity and access fifty years after Brown Experience with Technology Ali al-Azzawi, 2013-09-16 With a focus on gaining an empirically derived understanding of the underlying psychological dimensions and processes behind people's experiences with technology this book contributes to the debate of user experience UX within several disciplines including HCI design and marketing It analyses UX dynamics at various time scales and explores the very nature of time and meaning in the context of UX Experience with Technology uses personal construct theory PCT as a theoretical and methodological starting point to this project Major case studies are described that examine people's experiences with mobile media devices. The results show a group of super ordinate constructs that upon interaction undergo a change in the way they vary and relate to each other as well as the development of a high reliability UX Scale. The book concludes by proposing the ICE Interaction Construction and Evaluation model of UX that consolidates its findings into a workable framework of UX. The proposed framework will be of particular use to designers and practitioners and forms an empirically grounded starting point for further research.

New Methodological Perspectives on Observation and Experimentation in Science Wenceslao J. González, 2010-12-29. Observation and experimentation are central topics of philosophy and methodology of science. The empirical sciences have commonly been associated to observational and experimental processes because they have been considered crucial for testing the contents of these. Thus observation and experimentation have received attention from different angles and they have been historically relevant in the advancement of science. Their philosophical methodological analysis includes some key aspects: those related to axiological, epistemological and methodological issues. New Methodological Perspectives on Observation and Experimentation in Science deals with a classic topic that is seen from new angles. Its nine chapters seek non traditional aspects trying to extend the boundaries of this philosophical methodological theme. They are presented in five sections: 1. A Philosophical Methodological Context, 2. Experience and Scientific Observations, 3. Empirical Support and Experiments in Science, 4. Changes in the Framework on Observation and Experimentation, and 5. Enlarging the Philosophical Scope. Law and Ecology. Wenceslao J. Gonzalez is Professor of Logic and Philosophy of Science, University of Alcala. He is a Full Member of the International Academy for Philosophy of Sciences (AIPS), Visiting fellow at the Center for Philosophy of Science, University of Pittsburgh, and a Team Leader of the European Science Foundation program entitled 'The Philosophy of Science in a European Perspective'. He has been named a Distinguished Researcher by the Main National University of San Marcos in Lima, Peru. He has been a visiting researcher at the Universities of St Andrews, Manchester and London (LSE). He has given lectures at the Universities of Pittsburgh, Stanford, Quebec, and Helsinki. The conferences in which he has participated include those organized by the Universities of Uppsala, New South Wales, Bologna, Canterbury, NZ, and Beijing. He has edited 26 volumes on philosophy and methodology of science.

The Personal Distribution of Income in an International Perspective Richard Hauser, Irene Becker, 2012-12-06. Irene Becker and Richard Hauser. Bringing Income Distribution in From The Cold was the title. Anthony B. Atkinson gave his Presidential Address to the Royal Economic Society in 1996. This provocative formulation was intended to draw attention to the way in which the subject of income distribution long has been marginalised in the field of economics. Atkinson, 1997. In recent years, however, scientific interest in matters of personal income distribution has been growing. One reason for this recent concern stems from the political sphere. The factors of reinforced competition between countries due to the globalisation of markets and European integration, high unemployment rates and demographic changes necessitate reforms of labour markets, tax systems and social security systems. These reforms will affect both allocation and distribution.

so that reliable information on both areas is needed to devise balanced political programs Another reason for the burgeoning literature on personal income distribution is the improved availability of data on individual income which are a major prerequisite for detailed analyses of distribution topics Last but not least the development of powerful computers advanced statistics econometric packages and extended micro simulation models enables researchers both to work with huge individual data sets to describe and explain the personal distribution of income and to simulate the effects of political social and economic programs The volume at hand is based on some of the research advances in this field during the last decade

Language Diversity, Policy and Social Justice Kellie Rolstad, Wayne E. Wright, Na Liu, Jeff MacSwan, 2025-06-10 This book honors the impactful work of Terrence G Wiley on advancing social justice in the areas of language diversity and language policy It brings together a group of experienced scholars to provide an overview of research and progress in three areas heritage and community language education ideologies of language and literacies and language policy The chapters cover a wide range of formal and informal learning spaces and address language policies and practices from the national to the local levels The international appeal of Wiley's work is represented through the rich diversity of the contributing scholars and research contexts With an emphasis on advancing scholarship and advocacy for language minoritized populations in the United States and around the world this book will be of interest to graduate students and researchers in the fields of language education language policy and sociolinguistics
