Factors: The Good, the Bad, the Right. An Interdisciplinary Perspective Giulio Arcangeli,Gabriele Giorgi,Nicola Mucci,Jean-Luc Bernaud,Annamaria Di Fabio,2019-03-07 The labor market is evolving very rapidly in recent years in Europe and worldwide The fast and deep changes brought a brand new context of challenges and occupational risks to the attention of stakeholders The current global financial crisis has increased the economic pressures on companies and they in turn have intensified the effects on employees particularly in terms of new competition contexts and a lot of stress and mental health issues. Concurrently, social, political, and environmental problems generate underemployment, overqualification, overeducation, low wages for skilled workers, and unmet demand for education. Consequently, both high skilled and low skilled immigrant workers are increasing. In addition, workplaces are continually changing in step with the introduction of new technologies, materials, and work processes together with the changes in the labor market, the new forms of employment, and the new work organizations. These changes lead to new opportunities for employees and employers but also to new risks or reactualization of old organizational risks. According to the EU OSHA, the key points that describe the evolution that is currently ongoing in the world of work are globalization, the technical innovation, and the aging population. On one hand, some older potential risks are reappearing in organizations: intensive fear and worries, organizational anxiety, boredom, physical violence, alienation, segregation, loneliness, and isolation. On the other hand, re-emerging perceived organizational features seem vital for organizations and more important today than ever. Central constructs in the study of organizational behavior and organizational health, such as perceived organizational support, commitment in organizational context, socialization processes, change capacity of organizations, perceived organizational justice, ergonomics, and motivation, nowadays seem increasingly important and renewed.

The Michigan Journal, 2008

CEO Ready Mark Thompson, Byron Loflin, 2025-11-25 Your track record of success isn't enough. Here's what it really takes to be CEO Ready. You're on the short list for the CEO job and you have a record of delivering amazing results. You've been told you have the inside track. You're the leader in the clubhouse. Don't believe it. Remember that no matter what you've heard or what your CV says, you are not alone in the race, and the odds are against your getting the job. Leadership selection isn't the methodical, objective process we imagine. Decisions aren't made by robotic executives ticking boxes for attributes such as strategic fit, core competencies, or cultural alignment. Instead, the process is deeply personal, emotional, and often unpredictable. Now Mark Thompson and Byron Loflin share with you what it really takes to become CEO ready. Thompson has coached thousands of executives and CEO candidates and Loflin is a boardroom expert and adviser They've seen firsthand the emotions that sway CEO selections as well as the personal and boardroom dramas that unfold as a company prepares to pass the baton of leadership In CEO Ready Thompson and Loflin reveal what you need to do to maximize your chances of being the one who secures the top spot including identifying the seven key stakeholders CEO candidates need to understand and work with Filled with practical advice and compelling and instructive stories from those who've gone through this arduous process CEO Ready is essential reading for anyone who aspires to the ultimate leadership position
