World War II US Navy Special Warfare Units

The Allies knew that large-scale amphibious landings were needed to tip the balance of World War II, so the US Navy developed several innovative and specialized units to reconnoitre potential landing areas, degrade the enemy's ability to resist, and assist the landing forces on to the beaches. The Scouts and Raiders were one of the forerunners of the famous SEALs, and the Beach Jumpers made elaborate simulated landings to distract the enemy. The Naval Combat Demolition Units and Underwater Demolition Teams cleared obstacles to amphibious landings, while Naval Group China fought daringly alongside Chinese guerrillas behind Japanese lines. This book uncovers the fascinating history of these lesser-known units, the equipment they developed and tested in action, and the vital roles they carried out throughout the war.

and illustrates the tactics used by the men who fought one another in this uniquely demanding environment The twentieth century saw an unprecedented emphasis on fighting in all terrains seasons and weather conditions Such conditions made even basic survival difficult as subzero temperatures caused weapons to jam engines to seize up and soldiers to suffer frostbite snow blindness and hypothermia The conditions often favoured small groups of mobile lightly armed soldiers rather than the armoured forces or air power that dominated other combat environments Some European armies developed small numbers of specialist alpine troops before and during World War I but these proved to be insufficient as nearly all the major combatants of World War II found themselves fighting for extended periods in extremely hostile cold weather and or alpine environments Drawing upon manuals memoirs and unit histories and illustrated with period tactical diagrams and specially commissioned full colour artwork this study sheds new light on the winter warfare tactics and techniques of the US British German Soviet and Finnish armies of World War II
