

Essay

The SAT Essay is optional.

However, if students decide to write the essay at the end of the SAT, then they are given 50 minutes. Because they're given more time, students are expected to write 4 pages (at least 5-6 clear paragraphs).

The topic has also changed. Instead of writing an essay taking a stance on an issue, students are analyzing a passage that has been written by someone else. They are to explain why the author chose to use the stylistic strategies, diction, and rhetorical devices to get his or her point across successfully.

The essay is scored on a scale of 2-8 on Reading (comprehend source material), Analysis (analyze an argument), and Writing (skill measured writing).

The Essay score is not combined with the 800 score of the Reading and Writing section.

The Essay prompt will always be the same, but the topic will vary each time the SAT is given. Here is an example of how the essay prompt will look on the SAT (source, CollegeBoard.com):

The Essay Prompt

As you read the passage below, consider how [the author] uses evidence, such as facts or examples, to support claims.

- Evidence, such as facts or examples, to support claims.
- Reasoning to develop ideas and to connect claims and evidence.
- Stylistic or persuasive elements, such as rhetorical devices, word choice or appeals to emotion, to add power to the ideas expressed.

Write an essay in which you explain how [the author] builds an argument to persuade [his/her] audience that [author's claim]. In your essay, analyze how [the author] uses one or more of the features listed above (or features of your own choice) to strengthen the logic and persuasiveness of [his/her] argument. Be sure that your analysis focuses on the most relevant features of the passage.

Your essay should not explain whether you agree with [the author's] claims, but rather explain how the author builds an argument to persuade [his/her] audience.
