Hackenberg,2012-03-01 Writing to God Kid's Edition offers guidance to kids that parents can also appreciate It invites them to speak to God creatively through their pens or pencils or crayons In 35 days kids are invited to pray to God using their senses reflecting on their feelings in light of Bible verses looking at nature to understand the ordinary events of life to use new words and pictures for God and as a way to say thank you Hackenberg's book gives children permission to experience prayer as daily conversation with God The freshness and honesty of her own prayers and her helpful prompts invite them to find and value their own words as offerings to a God who wants to be in relationship with them Anabel Proffitt Associate Professor of Educational Ministries Lancaster Theological Seminary Blessed Events Pamela E. Klassen, 2021-06-08 Blessed Events explores how women who give birth at home use religion to make sense of their births and in turn draw on their birthing experiences to bring meaning to their lives and families Pamela Klassen introduces a surprisingly diverse group of women in their own words while also setting their birth stories within wider social political and economic contexts In doing so she emerges with a study that disrupts conventional views of both childbirth and religion by blurring assumed divisions between conservative and feminist women and by taking childbirth seriously as a religious act Most American women who have a choice give birth in a hospital and request pain medication Yet enough women choose and advocate unmedicated home birth and do so for carefully articulated reasons social resistance among them to constitute a movement Klassen investigates why women whose religious affiliations range from Old Order Amish to Reform Judaism to goddess centered spirituality defy majority opinion the medical establishment and sometimes the law to have their babies at home In considering their interpretations including their critiques of the dominant medical model of childbirth and their views on labor pain she examines the kinds of agency afforded to or denied women as they derive religious meanings from childbirth Throughout she identifies tensions and affinities between feminist and traditionalist appraisals of the symbolic meaning of birth and the power of women What does home birth a woman centered movement working to return birth to women s control mean in practice for women s gender and religious identities Is this supreme valuing of procreation and motherhood constraining or does it open up new realms of cultural and social power for women By asking these questions while remaining cognizant of religion s significance Blessed Events challenges both feminist and traditionalist accounts of childbearing while broadening our understanding of how religion is lived in contemporary America The Word Ann Monroe, 2000-01-01 Based on interviews with biblical scholars Ched Myers Walter Wink Marcus Borg ministers Peter Gomes Jim Forbes Kay Arthur and Bible study groups across the country Monroe s book offers a literary mosaic of the Bible in American culture Invisible Children in the Society and Its Schools Sue Books, 2015-04-24 The authors in this book use the metaphors of invisibility and visibility to explore the social and school lives of many children and young people in North America whose complexity strengths and vulnerabilities are largely unseen in the society and its schools These invisible children are socially devalued in the sense that alleviating the difficult conditions of their lives is not a priority children who are subjected to derogatory stereotypes who are educationally neglected in schools that respond inadequately if at all to their needs and who receive relatively little attention from scholars in the field of education or writers in the popular press The chapter authors some of the most passionate and insightful scholars in the field of education today detail oversights and assaults visible and invisible but also affirm the capacity of many of these young people to survive flourish and often educate others despite the painful and even desperate circumstances of their lives By sharing their voices providing basic information about them and offering thoughtful analysis of their social situation this volume combines education and advocacy in an accessible volume responsive to some of the most pressing issues of our time Although their research methodologies differ all of the contributors aim to get the facts straight and to set them in a meaningful context New in the Third Edition Chapters retained from the previous edition have been thoroughly revised and updated and five totally new chapters have been added on the topics of young people pushed into the school to prison pipeline the environmental landscape of two out of school Mexican migrant teens in the rural Midwest the perceptions and practices in and outside schools that construct African American boys as school failures negative portrayals of blackness in the context of understanding the collateral damage of continued white privilege and working class pregnant and parenting teens efforts to create positive identities for themselves Of interest to a broad range of researchers students and practitioners across the field of education this compelling book is accessible to all readers It is particularly appropriate as a text for courses that address the social context of education cultural and political change and public policy including social foundations of education sociology of education multicultural education curriculum studies and educational policy
