Service Learning and Literary Studies in English Laurie Grobman, Roberta Rosenberg, 2015-02-01 Service learning can help students develop a sense of civic responsibility and commitment often while addressing pressing community needs One goal of literary studies is to understand the ethical dimensions of the world and thus service learning by broadening the environments students consider is well suited to the literature classroom Whether through a public literacy project that demonstrates the relevance of literary study or community based research that brings literary theory to life student collaboration with community partners brings social awareness to the study of literary texts and helps students and teachers engage literature in new ways In their introduction the volume editors trace the history of service learning in the United States including the debate about literature's role and outline the best practices of the pedagogy. The essays that follow cover American English and world literature, creative nonfiction and memoir literature, based writing and cross disciplinary studies. Contributors describe a wide variety of service learning projects including a course on the Harlem Renaissance in which students lead a community writing workshop, an English capstone seminar in which seniors design programs for public libraries and a creative nonfiction course in which first year students work with elderly community members to craft life narratives. The volume closes with a list of resources for practitioners and researchers in the field. A Sourcebook of HIV/AIDS Prevention Programs Alexandria Valerio, Michael Beasley, Donald A. P. Bundy, 2008. Abstract: This Sourcebook aims to support efforts by countries to strengthen the role of the education sector in the prevention of HIV/AIDS. It was developed in response to numerous requests for a simple forum to help countries share their practical experiences of designing and implementing programs that are targeted at school age children. The Sourcebook seeks to fulfill this role by providing concise summaries of programs using a standard format that highlights the main elements of the programs and makes it easier to compare the programs with each other. A Sourcebook of HIV/AIDS Prevention Programs 2nd Edition documents 13 education based HIV/AIDS prevention programs targeting children and youth from 7 sub-Saharan African countries. It is sponsored by UNAIDS, UNICEF, UNESCO, UNFPA, DFID, USAID, Ireland Aid and the World Bank. The Sourcebook represents the work of many contributors and was developed by the Partnership for Child Development with the World Bank.
