Tourism in Pacific Islands Stephen Pratt,David Harrison,2015-02-20 Pacific Island Countries have been shown to be especially vulnerable to such external influences as natural disasters political unrest and downturns in the global economy and their tourism industries have been notably affected In particular they typically have a narrow resource base and a fragile and often vulnerable natural environment While there is some research on islands and small states there is a dearth of information on the South Pacific and very little research is being undertaken in the region compared to other geographical regions in the world This volume brings together current work in Pacific Island tourism In this collection three main themes arise Images of the South Pacific Socio economic Impacts of Tourism and Pacific Island Countries and the Outside World The first focus is on the question of image namely stereotypes of a destination held by tourists and potential tourists the extent to which residents for their part really welcome visitors and the role tourism might play in changing pre established images The second theme is tourism s impacts notably the economic and socio cultural effects of international tourism s intrusion in the region which though often hotly debated have attracted relatively little empirical research The third focus is on the challenges of how PICs articulate with their external geo political and physical environment These involve existing relations with formal colonial centres geographical isolation the need for greater air access to the outside world and for more tourists and the continuing threat to several PICs of global warming which increased air travel will inevitably exacerbate This text will be of interest to tourism students researchers and academics in the fields of tourism development studies and cultural studies

Protected Areas and Tourism in Southern Africa Lesego Senyana Stone,Moren Tibabo Stone,Patricia Kefilwe Mogomotsi,Goemeone E.J. Mogomotsi,2022-03-23 This volume discusses the complex relationship between Protected Areas and tourism and their impact on community livelihoods in a range of countries in Southern Africa Protected areas and tourism have an enduring and symbiotic relationship While protected areas offer a desirable setting for tourism products tourism provides revenue that can contribute to conservation efforts This can bring benefits to local communities but it can also have a negative impact with the establishment of protected areas leading to the eviction of local communities from their original places of residence while also preventing them from accessing the natural resources they once enjoyed Taking a multi disciplinary approach this book addresses the opportunities and challenges faced by communities and other stakeholders as they endeavour to achieve their conservation goals and work towards improving community livelihoods Case studies from Botswana Malawi Namibia South Africa Tanzania Zambia and Zimbabwe address key issues such as human wildlife conflicts ecotourism wildlife based tourism landscape governance wildlife crop raiding and trophy hunting including the high profile case of Cecil the lion Chapters highlight both the achievements and positive outcomes of protected areas but also the challenges faced and their impact on how protected areas are viewed and also conservation priorities more generally The volume gives these issues affecting protected areas local communities managers and international conservation efforts centre stage in order inform policy and improve practice going forward This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of conservation natural resource management tourism sustainable development and African studies as well as professionals and policymakers involved in conservation policy

Adventure Tourism and Outdoor Activities Management Ian Jenkins,2019-02-04 An essential resource for those wishing to understand the key factors behind the operation of an adventure tourism company and how to be able to deliver a profitable as well as a sustainable product It discusses important factors such as how the use of technologies and the current importance of environmental impacts and climate change are areas that are key to adventure tourism firms To remain profitable companies need to address these issues along with the important elements of risk and safety Created from the author s experience in delivering adventure tourism courses over the last 20 years this long awaited book is aimed at both university courses on adventure tourism and outdoor recreation as well as those working within the industry The Routledge Handbook of Second Home Tourism and Mobilities C. Michael Hall, Dieter Müller, 2018-04-17 Second homes have become an increasingly important component of both tourism and housing studies They can directly and indirectly contribute a significant number of domestic and international visitors to destinations and may be part of longer term retirement lifestyle and amenity migration that can have significant economic and social effects on communities and destination development This volume offers an overview of different disciplinary and methodological approaches to second homes while simultaneously providing a broad geographical reach Divided into four parts exploring governance development community and mobile second homes the book provides a contemporary account of the major issues in an area of growing international interest This timely handbook covers a wide range of dimensions from planning to the role of second homes in development and the management of their impact The international and cross disciplinary nature of the contributions will be of interest to numerous academic fields in the social sciences as well as urban and regional planners Competence-Based Innovation in Hospitality and Tourism Harald Pechlaner, Elisa Innerhofer, 2016-04-14 Dr Pechlaner and Dr Innerhofer the editors of Competence Based Innovation in Hospitality and Tourism argue that the industry operates within highly challenging and competitive environments Changing environmental and market conditions continually force hotel businesses and service providers to offer their customers new and modified products and services in order to remain competitive those which respect value perceptions of markets and sustainable stakeholder reactions This then raises the question of how innovations within this industry must be developed in order to achieve competitive differentiation The book demonstrates that the development and analysis of successful innovation strategies should integrate the resource based view and its advancements the competence based view as well as the dynamic capabilities approach and the relational view Resource based strategic management approaches view the firm as a bundle of resources and competences They point to the importance of firm specific resources and competences in explaining variations in competitive positions and performance differentiation between companies The challenge of hospitality and tourism is to develop resources and competences that drive innovations This book will serve to advance the status quo of tourism research literature by combining innovation theories with network theories and tourism and destination development by illustrating the development of cooperative competences and innovations in tourism and by showing in a tailored way how the challenge of the development of resources and competences that drive innovations in tourism can be managed Critical Issues in Tourism Co-Creation Giang Thi Phi, Dianne Dredge, 2021-07-05 Co creation is fast becoming a buzz word in tourism Traditional approaches to value creation in tourism suggest that operators and suppliers produce goods and services which are consumed by tourists The value produced is usually measured in economic terms Co creation challenges these assumptions arguing that tourism producers and consumers co create value together and that this

value is more diverse than just economic value Technologies underpinning social media ratings and review tools and e commerce are facilitating the creation of diverse values and have been responsible for driving innovation in for example new business models such as the collaborative economy Social environmental emotional reputational and other kinds of value may also be produced and a wide range of stakeholders not just producers or consumers might also benefit from the value co creation process This edited volume seeks to go beyond the dominant business management marketing perspectives that focus on the co creation of market value and innovation to excavate complex and critical episodes of co creation in tourism By engaging authors from both the academy and beyond it explores the rich historical lineage of co creation and its contemporary practices The chapters in this book were originally published in Tourism Recreation Research COVID-19 Impact on Tourism Performance in Africa Peter Chihwai, 2024-04-29 This book examines the impact of the COVID 19 pandemic on tourism performance in Africa It covers a wide range of topics that will interest academic readers and researchers including the effects of COVID 19 on various segments of the tourism sector The aim is to provide a deeper understanding of the damage caused by the pandemic enriching future research based on the findings and conclusions presented in the book The research presented in this book is new and original representing different perspectives from across Africa's 52 countries It offers valuable insights for the business world on how to adapt and adopt communication strategies during crises such as COVID 19 Themes such as innovation service quality and continuous improvement during the pandemic are explored providing lessons that can benefit the tourism industry in navigating similar challenges in the future Additionally the book discusses the future of tourism presenting various perspectives on what the future holds for the tourism industry This provides an exciting platform for tourism stakeholders to learn about the future of the sector from diverse and knowledgeable angles The unique perspectives offered especially those from Africa will appeal to a wide and diverse audience including ecotourists educational tourists adventure tourists governments academics and other stakeholders

Volunteer Tourism and the Moral Self Yim Ming Connie Kwong, 2025-04-29 Volunteer Tourism and the Moral Self offers a new lens to conceptualise volunteer tourism through the moral self It moves the conceptualisation of volunteer tourism to the broader discussion around ways of being and becoming a moral self It is the first volume of ethnographic research of Asian experiences of volunteer tourism which has been a field of study premised on Western participants and weighted with Western assumptions and ethical models Drawing on concepts and theories in geography anthropology sociology tourism and education Volunteer Tourism and the Moral Self explores how a moral self is cultivated experienced and hopefully re-invented through volunteer tourism It navigates with volunteer tourists from Hong Kong and Taiwan to examine how volunteer tourism has become a social trend This social trend emerges from the interplay of institutionalised service obligation in schools and the culturally rooted ethical dispositions It also manifests the search for rebuilding social ties in different forms of moral communities and new ways of being ICTR 2020 3rd International
