Tourism Guidelines For Practical Assessment Tasks 22:

Tourism Leszek Butowski, 2016-05-04 Tourism is that area of activity of contemporary man that touches on various fields of human interest. Representatives of numerous academic disciplines find it intriguing for its exceptionally interdisciplinary character. Conditions for and consequences of the development of tourism are investigated among others by economists, geographers, sociologists, experts in culture, anthropologists, management and social policy specialists and even by representatives of some natural sciences. Researchers dealing with tourism need to meet strict methodological requirements but they get access to a very interesting subject of scientific inquiry which combines social, cultural, economic and environmental aspects to create an ontologically new quality offering epistemological challenges. European Journal of Tourism Research, 2022-10-01 The European Journal of Tourism Research is an open access academic journal in the field of tourism published by Varna University of Management Bulgaria. Its aim is to provide a platform for discussion of theoretical and empirical problems in tourism. Publications from all fields connected with tourism such as tourism management, tourism marketing, tourism sociology, psychology in tourism, tourism geography, political sciences in tourism, mathematics, tourism statistics, tourism anthropology, culture and tourism heritage and tourism national identity and tourism information technologies in tourism and others are invited. Empirical studies need to have either a European context or clearly stated implications for the European tourism industry. The journal is open to all researchers. Young researchers and authors from Central and Eastern Europe are encouraged to submit their contributions. The journal is indexed in Scopus and Clarivate Analytics Emerging Sources Citation Index. The European Journal of Tourism Research is a Platinum open access journal. There are no charges for publication. The editorial team welcomes your submissions to the European Journal of Tourism Research. Adventure Tourism and Outdoor Activities Management Ian Jenkins, 2019-02-04 An essential resource for those wishing to understand the key factors behind the operation of an adventure tourism company and how to be able to deliver a profitable as well as a sustainable product. It discusses important factors such as how the use of technologies and the current importance of environmental impacts and climate change are areas that are key to adventure tourism firms. To remain profitable, companies need to address these issues along with the important elements of risk and safety. Created from the author's experience in delivering adventure tourism courses over the last 20 years, this long-awaited book is aimed at both university courses on adventure tourism and outdoor recreation as well as those working within the industry. Climate Change and Tourism in the Asia Pacific Bruce Prideaux, Bob McKercher, Karen

McNamara, 2015-09-07 Climate change will exert an enormous impact on all societies in the medium to long term. Tourism as both a commercial activity and social phenomenon is not immune. To date, industry has been slow to recognise the scale of the threat posed by a changing climate on its operations and consumers have been extremely reluctant to modify their travel behaviours. The Asia Pacific region is well on the way to being the 21st Century powerhouse of tourism, however the manner in which it develops will in part be determined by how the global community responds to climate change This book examines climate change issues related to tourism in the Asia Pacific region Chapters discuss demand and supply side issues explore government policy responses and introduce several new adaptation models The book also calls for a more effective linking of social science research with the scientific discourse to create long term resolution of and adaptation to this issue This book was published as a special issue of Asia Pacific Journal of Tourism Research Medical Travel Brand Management

An International Handbook of Tourism Education David Airey, John Tribe, 2006-08-11 As tourism matures as an academic subject and the number of tourism higher education providers continues to expand world wide there is an increasing interest in its educational aspects At the same time the development of research into education issues related to tourism means that there is now a developing literature on the subject This international handbook offers a timely evaluation of the state of the art of tourism higher education The book brings together expert contributors from around the world to present current thinking and practice about what is now a major element of education provision world wide It is structured round four key themes Curriculum International perspective Teaching learning and assessment Resources progression and quality Its global survey of tourism education offers a comprehensive basis for comparative review In addition to setting out the development and current provision of tourism education it also addresses cutting edge issues such PhD education non formal education cultural issues in learning research and teaching e learning and e assessment It offers practical advice for the design delivery evaluation and resourcing of courses and concludes with a reflective agenda of issues for the future TEFL Tourism

Hayley Stainton,2019-07-22 There is evident lineage between the concepts of teaching English as a foreign language TEFL and tourism represented through evocative marketing material the commoditisation of the TEFL product teacher motivations and experiences Yet to date there has been no recognition of these links within industry or academia This book introduces the concept of TEFL tourism outlining the scale of the sector and the rapid commercialization of TEFL teaching across the world locating it as an emerging form of niche tourism The text outlines the organisation types and geographical locations emphasizing the commodification of English language teaching It also outlines the types of TEFL tourists the complexities of international education links with various tourism forms and sustainability considerations of the industry The book will appeal to tourism academics and students in particular those with interests in educational and volunteer tourism as well as sustainable tourism and commodification Academic Standards in Higher Education Nicola Reimann,Ian Sadler,Jennifer Hill,2024-08-15

Academic standards in higher education are important but largely misunderstood This book examines the notion of academic standards explaining what they are and why they are important and identifying the many myths that surround them Based on the lessons learnt from the UK wide Degree Standards Project which developed piloted and evaluated a professional development course on degree standards aimed at external examiners the book offers practical suggestions for ways in which higher education staff can develop a more sophisticated understanding of standards It discusses the implications of rethinking academic standards for higher education policy and practice through examples and case studies derived from research evidence the Degree Standards Project and contributors own experience and expertise As a broader approach to assessment literacy this volume aims to develop readers standards literacy by challenging routine practices and proposing promising alternatives Written with a diverse readership in mind this book is relevant to discipline based academics quality officers academic developers university leaders and managers as well as policy makers Best Practice Guidelines for Great Ape Tourism Elizabeth J. Macfie,Elizabeth A. Williamson,2010

Executive summary Tourism is often proposed 1 as a strategy to fund conservation efforts to protect great apes and their habitats 2 as a way for local communities to participate in and benefit from conservation activities on behalf of great apes or 3 as a business A few very successful sites point to the considerable potential of conservation based great ape tourism but it will not be possible to replicate this success everywhere The number of significant risks to great apes that can arise from tourism require a cautious

approach If great ape tourism is not based on sound conservation principles right from the start the odds are that economic objectives will take precedence the consequences of which in all likelihood would be damaging to the well being and eventual survival of the apes and detrimental to the continued preservation of their habitat All great ape species and subspecies are classified as Endangered or Critically Endangered on the IUCN Red List of Threatened Species IUCN 2010 therefore it is imperative that great ape tourism adhere to the best practice guidelines in this document The guiding principles of best practice in great ape tourism are Tourism is not a panacea for great ape conservation or revenue generation Tourism can enhance long term support for the conservation of great apes and their habitat Conservation comes first it must be the primary goal at any great ape site and tourism can be a tool to help fund it Great ape tourism should only be developed if the anticipated conservation benefits as identified in impact studies significantly outweigh the risks Enhanced conservation investment and action at great ape tourism sites must be sustained in perpetuity Great ape tourism management must be based on sound and objective science Benefits and profit for communities adjacent to great ape habitat should be maximised Profit to private sector partners and others who earn income associated with tourism is also important but should not be the driving force for great ape tourism development or expansion Comprehensive understanding of potential impacts must guide tourism development positive impacts from tourism must be maximised and negative impacts must be avoided or if inevitable better understood and mitigated The ultimate success or failure of great ape tourism can lie in variables that may not be obvious to policymakers who base their decisions primarily on earning revenue for struggling conservation programmes However a number of biological geographical economic and global factors can affect a site so as to render ape tourism ill advised or unsustainable This can be due for example to the failure of the tourism market for a particular site to provide revenue sufficient to cover the development and operating costs or it can result from failure to protect the target great apes from the large number of significant negative aspects inherent in tourism Either of these failures will have serious consequences for the great ape population Once apes are habituated to human observers they are at increased risk from poaching and other forms of conflict with humans They must be protected in perpetuity even if tourism fails or ceases for any reason Great ape tourism should not be developed without conducting critical feasibility analyses to ensure there is sufficient potential for success Strict attention must be paid to the design of the enterprise its implementation and continual management capacity in a manner that avoids or at least minimises the negative impacts of tourism on local communities and on the apes themselves Monitoring programmes to track costs and impacts as well as benefits is essential to inform management on how to optimise tourism for conservation benefits These guidelines have been developed for both existing and potential great ape tourism sites that wish to improve the degree to which their programme contributes to the conservation rather than the exploitation of great apes

Risk and Safety Management in the Leisure, Events, Tourism and Sports Industries Mark Piekarz,Ian Jenkins,Peter Mills,2015-09-02 The management of risk and safety is not simply a matter of trying to remove risks but is necessary and vital to these industries Sensible risk management is concerned with making the most of the positive opportunities or reducing the negative risks This books shows how the absence of explicit risk practices is not necessarily an absence of risk management and how many existing operational and strategic practices can be understood as part of a process of risk and safety management Its main objective is to develop greater clarity in the communication of risks and the development of safety programmes illustrating how organisations can use a single language of risk relevant for all levels of management and areas of operation Principles of International

Environmental Law Philippe Sands,Jacqueline Peel,Adriana Fabra,Ruth MacKenzie,2018-03 The new edition of this essential text offers a comprehensive critical and future thinking commentary on international environmental law

Rethinking Hospitality and Tourism Education Marcela Fang,Kim Williams,Alison Morrison,Tracy Harkison,2024-12-19 This book offers empirical research case studies and examples of best practice that address cutting edge and contemporary higher education issues It aims to inspire hospitality and tourism educators and scholars to embrace transformative learning approaches that promote student centred learning in times of rapid change The chapters explore transformative learning practices in hospitality and tourism education while disclosing innovative and transformative approaches to teaching and learning that respond to the changing needs and demands of both students and industry The book advances the ongoing discussions and innovations in hospitality and tourism education and informs current and future research and practice Its focus on digital technology and a range of innovative pedagogy for teaching and learning methods provides a practical engaging and essential toolkit for teachers and learners Chapter 16 is free to download as an open access publication under a CC BY licence You can download it here <https://zenodo.org/records/14604731> Practical Guide to International
