The World Bank Group and Public Procurement World Bank World Bank, 2015-02-13 The unanticipated spike in international food prices in 2007-08 hit many developing countries hard International prices for food and other agricultural products increased by more than 100 percent between early 2007 and mid 2008 Prices for food cereals more than doubled and those for rice doubled in the space of just a few months The food price increases were particularly hard on the poor and near poor in developing countries many of whom spend a large share of their income on food and have limited means to cope with price shocks An estimated 1.29 billion people in 2008 lived on less than 1.25 a day equivalent to 22.4 percent of the developing world population In addition the Food and Agriculture Organization estimated that 923 million people were undernourished in 2007 Simulation models suggested that poverty rose by 100-200 million people and the undernourished increased by 63 million in 2008 The World Bank organized rapidly for short term support in the crisis launching a fast track program of loans and grants the Global Food Crisis Response Program GFRP The GFRP mainly targeted low income countries and provided detailed policy advice to governments and its own staff on how to respond to the crisis The Bank also scaled up lending for agriculture and social protection to support the building of medium term resilience to future food price shocks The International Finance Corporation responded by sharply increasing access to liquidity for agribusinesses and agricultural traders in the short and medium term as well as new programs to improve incentives for agricultural market participants This evaluation assesses the effectiveness of the World Bank Group response in addressing the short term impacts of the food price crisis and in enhancing the resilience of countries to future shocks

Ecological Sensitivity and Global Legal Pluralism Oren Perez, 2004-06-30 The tension between trade liberalisation and environmental protection has received remarkable attention since the establishment of the WTO It has been the subject of a wide ranging debate and is one of the central themes of the anti globalisation movement This book explores that debate It argues that by focusing on the WTO the debate has failed to recognise the institutional and discursive complexity in which the trade environment conflict is embedded A legal investigation of this nexus requires a framework of inquiry in which this complexity can be elucidated a model of global legal pluralism The first theoretical part of the book Chapters One and Two responds to this challenge by developing a pluralistic model which recognises the trade and environment conflict as the product of multiple dilemmas constituted and negotiated by a myriad of institutional and discursive networks As such this conflict cannot be understood or addressed through one dimensional models Viewing the trade environment conflict through a pluralistic perspective yields important practical insights It means that this conflict cannot be resolved by uniform economic or legal formulae Dealing with this conflict requires rather polycentric and contextual strategy The empirical part of the book Chapters Three to Seven explicates this thesis by examining several global legal domains ranging from the WTO to private transnational regimes such as transnational litigation international construction law and international financial law This part demonstrates how the different discursive and institutional structures of these domains have influenced the contours of the trade environment conflict and considers the policy implications of this diversity from a pro environmental perspective
