Cruise Tourism in the Caribbean Martha Honey, 2019-06-17 This book explores the lessons learned from half a century of Caribbean cruise tourism one of the most popular and profitable sectors of the tourism industry The modern day cruise industry dates from the 1960s when the three major cruise lines Carnival Royal Caribbean and Norwegian set up shop in Florida and began selling winter cruises to the Caribbean targeting American retirees For geopolitical reasons the US initially excluded cruises to Cuba This changed in 2016 following the historic Obama Castro agreement to move towards diplomatic trade and travel normalization Cuba quickly became the Caribbean s fastest growing cruise destination This book considers the limited economic benefits of cruise tourism its environmental and social impacts and the effects of climate change and overtourism Based on this analysis and case studies of key Caribbean and Mediterranean destinations this book cautions against overdependence on cruise tourism and outlines reforms needed to bring more benefits and equity to Caribbean countries It will be valuable to professionals businesses development agencies NGOs and academics interested in a sustainable cruise industry and the economic well being of Caribbean island nations The State and Cosmopolitan Responsibilities Richard Beardsworth, Garrett Wallace Brown, Richard Shapcott, 2019-06-06

This book explores the role that states might play in promoting a cosmopolitan condition as an agent of cosmopolitanism rather than an obstacle to it In doing so the book seeks to develop recent arguments in favour of locating cosmopolitan moral and political responsibility at the state level as either an alternative to or a corollary of cosmopolitanism as it is more commonly understood qua requiring transnational or global bearers of responsibility As a result the contributions in this volume see an on going role for the state but also its transformation perhaps only partially into a more cosmopolitan minded institution instead of a purely national or particularistic one It therefore makes the case that the state as a form of political community can be reconciled with various form of cosmopolitan responsibility In this way the book will address the question of how states in the present and in the future can be better bearers of cosmopolitan responsibilities Linking agriculture and tourism to strengthen agrifood systems in Asia and the Pacific Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2023-08-03 Agrifood systems in Asia and the Pacific can be strengthened by tapping on agrifood tourism linkages When tourism and agrifood systems interact both synergies and competition appear Agriculture and tourism compete between themselves and other sectors for land water labour capital and transport and logistics services Cross sectoral synergies arise when agriculture and tourism influence each other through their respective demand conditions and changes in the enabling environment These cross sectoral synergies can be instrumental in strengthening agrifood systems in the region and addressing interlinked crises in the post pandemic era Governments across Asia and the Pacific have acknowledged the potential of tapping into agrifood tourism linkages to advance sustainable development in both urban food tourism and rural areas mostly agricultural tourism and are implementing efforts to develop this subsector Agrifood tourism linkages can create income generating opportunities for farmers and tourism operators boost employment and stimulate overall economic growth promote the development of sustainable agrifood systems prevent rural youth outmigration and help preserve culinary and agricultural heritage This publication guides policymakers in the region in the preparation of a strategic plan aimed at developing agrifood tourism and the tourism food value chain as drivers of sustainable development The successful positioning of a country or location as a culinary or agricultural tourism destination and the creation of synergies between the agriculture and tourism sectors requires a shared vision and coordination between policymakers destination managers tourism and agrifood businesses chefs farmers and other key stakeholders
