Apostolopoulos, Stella Leivadi, Andrew Yiannakis, 2013-04-15 The rapid expansion of the tourism industry has provided many economic benefits and affected every facet of contemporary societies including employment government revenue and cultural manifestations However tourism can also be considered a problematic phenomenon promoting dependency underdevelopment and adverse sociocultural effects especially for developing countries This pioneering work provides a comprehensive review of these complex tourism issues from a sociological perspective Various theoretical and empirical approaches are introduced and the following issues are discussed identifiable and stable forms of touristic behaviour and roles social divisions within tourism the interdependence of tourism and social institutions the effects of transnational tourism and commodification on the ecosystem Featuring international contributions from nine different countries this book brings together the most noted theoretical and empirical studies and enriches them with diverse experiences and perspectives

Overtourism and Tourism Education Hugues Séraphin, Anca C. Yallop, 2020-11-05

Since 2017 the term overtourism has become the buzzword for destinations suffering the strain of tourism It is a critical issue for the 21st century and beyond and to date has only been examined from a tourism industry perspective This book takes a different stand by investigating overtourism from a tourism education perspective The recent global COVID 19 pandemic was expected to halt travel and arguably overtourism However industry experts and researchers share the opinion that instead of declining overtourism is simply experiencing a shift with a swarm of second home and domestic travel that is likely to engulf many tourism destinations Against this backdrop the issue of overtourism remains relevant and studies on ways to cultivate responsible consumer mindsets to deal with overtourism and other sustainability issues in the tourism industry are called for This book focuses on education as a transformative and strategic tool to tackle overtourism and related negative impacts It presents original research on the topics of overtourism education and sustainability and puts forward a range of practical and transformative tourism education strategies to mitigate overtourism and to promote the sustainable development of destinations This book will be of great interest to upper level students researchers and academics in tourism development studies cultural studies and sustainability as well as professionals in the field of tourism management

Tourism Research Methods Brent W. Ritchie, Peter Burns, Catherine Palmer, 2005 Within the tourism industry there is a growing consensus on the need for research to investigate the economic social and environmental impacts of tourism However existing research methods texts are based solely on either the business approach or the social science approach to tourism They often fail to provide real world examples of how to plan implement or analyse tourism related research This book aims to address this divide by integrating theory with practice through the inclusion of specific tourism research case studies alongside research theory It considers a wide range of research issues approaches and techniques with contributions from both experienced and new researchers

Qualitative Methodologies in Tourism Studies Milka

Ivanova, Dorina-Maria Buda, Elisa Burrai, 2022-09-05 Disruptive and creative research methodologies proposed in this book are designed to dismantle neoliberal narratives deployed in tourism studies and wider social sciences Progressing criticality in tourism studies this volume showcases cutting edge contributions ranging from reflexivity subjectivities and dreams to messy emotions in auto ethnographic accounts of fieldwork motherhood capital accessing Inuit communities collective memory work ethnodrama and creative non fiction amongst others Disruption and creativity are the two ideas around which tourism geographers challenge and begin dismantling hegemonic ideologies in tourism studies The chapters in this book provide a vantage point from where to disrupt first before tourism geographers can engender progress and transformation within and outside of the field In tourism studies in general and tourism geography in particular the years of the 2000s have witnessed an emphasis on qualitative methodological research both in terms of the topics addressed and the types of methodological tools In many ways this legitimisation of qualitative work mirrors developments in other areas such as human geography sociology and anthropology in which this book is anchored The authors debate in more depth how tourism studies offer multidimensional multilogical and multi emotional approaches to research design The chapters were originally published as a special issue of the journal Tourism Geographies

Tourism Development Richard W. Butler, Douglas G.

Pearce, 2003-09-02 This work explores the theory and practice of contemporary tourism development offering alternative approaches to theory and policy issues and extending research into newly emerging tourist destinations

Proceedings of the 2025 4th International Conference on Social Sciences and Humanities and Arts (SSHA 2025) Sun Jing, Sun Hefei, Liu Shuli, Ren Xianpin, Cuneyt Birkok, 2025-07-22 This is an open access book With the progress of social civilization social science and its research are becoming more and more important Theoretically and practically the study of social phenomena and social problems and the development of prosperous social sciences are the eternal themes of human beings At present

social science research and its results can hardly meet the needs of social development especially the unscientific evaluation of social science results which has aroused great concern from all walks of life and has produced dirt and questions on social science thus affecting the proper development of social science Max Weber once said that the most important function of social science in modern times is to keep people clear headed and to resist the delusions of prophetic legislators Humanities and arts are the process of perceiving realizing thinking manipulating and expressing objective or subjective objects through capturing and excavating feeling and analyzing integrating and applying or displaying the stage results in the form obtained through feeling seeing hearing smelling touching The social sciences and humanities and arts contain content that will directly affect our lives and the way society functions And by reacting to today s increasingly intricate problems and situations through systematic and professional discussions they will further contribute to the improvement of institutions and the development of society By thinking about issues and looking at problems and the world from different perspectives by putting the two together it may be possible to have more comprehensive appropriate and better responses for example the development of laws requires a deeper understanding of the environment in which they are implemented international trade requires a certain understanding of the customs of different countries and the development of tax and economic policies requires a certain understanding of the population consumer demand etc
