Teaching a Learner Driver Don Gates, 2020-05-12 If you're thinking of teaching someone to drive this is the book you need Teaching a learner driver how hard could it be Many years ago a sister of mine expressed an interest in learning to drive Being a keen driver myself I thought teaching a learner driver would be fun However I didn't realise how unprepared I was Some years later I took training myself and went on to become a professional driving instructor I worked for a local driving school for a while before taking further training and joining the British School of Motoring for a couple of years When I decided to start up my own driving school the family came to me for lessons Things went according to plan this time because in the meantime someone had taught me how to teach The Benefit of Experience With four decades years of experience both as a driving instructor and driving examiner I will help you to train a learner driver to be safe confident and capable With the help of this book you will learn how to structure lessons deliver driving instruction like a professional avoid many of the pitfalls that amateur teachers fall into The instructions are easy to follow and all tricky points are illustrated with clear diagrams The book covers everything you need including basic car controls use of mirrors and as a result your learner driver should pass first time UK Driving Skills All Rights Reserved <https://www.ukdrivingskills.co.uk>

Learning to Drive David Michael Stavens, 2011 Every year 1.2 million people die in automobile accidents and up to 50 million are injured Many of these deaths are due to driver error and other preventable causes Autonomous or highly aware cars have the potential to positively impact tens of millions of people Building an autonomous car is not easy Although the absolute number of traffic fatalities is tragically large the failure rate of human driving is actually very small A human driver makes a fatal mistake once in about 88 million miles As a co-founding member of the Stanford Racing Team we have built several relevant prototypes of autonomous cars These include Stanley the winner of the 2005 DARPA Grand Challenge and Junior the car that took second place in the 2007 Urban Challenge These prototypes demonstrate that autonomous vehicles can be successful in challenging environments Nevertheless reliable cost-effective perception under uncertainty is a major challenge to the deployment of robotic cars in practice This dissertation presents selected perception technologies for autonomous driving in the context of Stanford's autonomous cars We consider speed selection in response to terrain conditions smooth road finding improved visual feature optimization and cost-effective car detection Our work does not rely on manual engineering or even supervised machine learning Rather the car learns on its own training itself without human teaching or labeling We show this self-supervised learning often meets or exceeds traditional methods Furthermore we feel self-supervised learning is the only approach with the potential to provide the very low failure rates necessary to improve on human driving performance
