 of essays in the philosophy of literature with two central themes the significance of story telling for us and the question of whether the novel perhaps the art form most closely associated with story telling is a legitimate source of human knowledge Leading philosopher of art Peter Kivy explores why human beings are so enthralled by being told stories and whether story telling is a significant source of knowledge Starting with a study of Aristotle s Poetics Kivy then undertakes a critical discussion of Noel Carroll s suggestion that our interaction with the artists of the past is a kind of conversation He goes on to defend the thesis that one of the legitimate artistic pleasures we take in novel reading is the acquiring of knowledge and furthermore that the silent reading of a novel is a kind of performance making the novel one of the performing arts The volume concludes with a chapter about jokes and in particular whether it is immoral to tell or be amused by an immoral joke
 This volume of essays is a must read for anyone seriously interested in literature and the conceptual problems it may raise
