From the cabinets of wonder of the Renaissance to the souvenir collections of today selecting accumulating and organizing objects are practices that are central to our notions of who we are and what we value Collecting both private and institutional has been instrumental in the consolidation of modern notions of the individual and of the nation and numerous studies have discussed its complex political social economic anthropological and psychological implications However studies of collecting as practiced in colonized cultures are few since the role of these cultures has usually been understood as that of purveyors of objects for the metropolitan collector Collecting from the Margins Material Culture in a Latin American Context seeks to counter the historical understanding of collecting that posits the metropolis as collecting subject and the colonial or postcolonial society as supplier of collectible objects by asking instead how collecting has been practiced and understood in Latin America Has collecting been viewed or portrayed differently in a Latin American context Does the act of collecting when viewed from a Latin American perspective unsettle the way we have become accustomed to think about it What differences if any arise in the activity of collecting in colonized or previously colonial societies Spanning the period after the independence wars until the 1980s this collection of ten essays addresses a broad range of examples of collecting practices in Latin America Collecting during the nineteenth century is addressed in discussions of the creation of the first national museums of Argentina and Colombia in the post independence period as well as in analyses of the private collections of modernistas such as Enrique Gómez Carrillo Rubén Darío Jos Asunción Silva and Delmira Agustini at the end of the nineteenth century and the beginning of the twentieth The practice of collecting in the twentieth century is discussed in analyses of the self described revolutionary practices of Oswald de Andrade Augusto de Campos and the films of Ruy Guerra as well as the polemical collections of Pablo Neruda and the unsettling collections portrayed in Gabriel García Márquez's One Hundred Years of Solitude
