Making the Unequal Metropolis Ansley T. Erickson, 2016-04-01 In a radically unequal United States schools are often key sites in which injustice grows Ansley T Erickson s Making the Unequal Metropolis presents a broad detailed and damning argument about the inextricable interrelatedness of school policies and the persistence of metropolitan scale inequality While many accounts of education in urban and metropolitan contexts describe schools as the victims of forces beyond their control Erickson shows the many ways that schools have been intertwined with these forces and have in fact via land use decisions curricula and other tools helped sustain inequality Taking Nashville as her focus Erickson uncovers the hidden policy choices that have until now been missing from popular and legal narratives of inequality In her account inequality emerges not only from individual racism and white communities resistance to desegregation but as the result of long standing linkages between schooling property markets labor markets and the pursuit of economic growth By making visible the full scope of the forces invested in and reinforcing inequality Erickson reveals the complex history of and broad culpability for ongoing struggles in our schools The Best Teachers in the World John E. Chubb, Benno C. Schmidt, 2013-09-01

John Chubb shows how we can raise student achievement to levels comparable to those of the best nations in the world through a radically new strategy for raising teacher quality He asserts that we must attract and retain much higher caliber individuals in teaching which we can accomplish by reducing the size and increasing the compensation of the teaching force via technology abolishing licensing and training teachers in institutions and programs that have demonstrated their efficacy in producing effective and improving the quality of school leadership on which teaching quality heavily depends NAEP 1998 Writing State Report for Department of Defense Dependents Schools Laura Jerry, 1999

Linking Teacher Preparation Program Design and Implementation to Outcomes for Teachers and Students Jennifer E. Carinci, Cara Jackson, Stephen J. Meyer, 2020-02-01 Improving the use of evidence in teacher preparation is one of the greatest challenges and opportunities for our field The chapters in this volume explore how data availability quality and use within and across preparation programs shed light on the structures policies and practices associated with high quality teacher preparation Chapter authors take on critical questions about the connection between what takes place during teacher preparation and subsequent outcomes for teachers and students which has remained a black box for too long Despite a long history of teacher preparation in the U S and a considerable investment in preservice and in service training much is still to be learned about how pre service preparation impacts teacher effectiveness A strong empirical basis that informs how specific aspects of and approaches to teacher preparation relate to outcomes for graduates and their preK 12 student outcomes will provide a foundation for improved teaching and learning Our book responds to stakeholders collective responsibility to students and teachers to act more deliberately Issues of data availability and quality the uses of data for improvement priorities for future research and opportunities to promote evidence use in teacher preparation are discussed throughout the volume to inspire collective action to push the field towards more use of evidence Chapters present research that uses a variety of research designs methodologies and data sources to explore important questions about the relationship between teacher preparation inputs and outcomes NAEP 1996 Science Report for Department of Defense
