Business Ethics K. Praveen Parboteeah, John B. Cullen, 2013-04-12
Business Ethics provides a thorough review and analysis of business ethics issues using several learning tools: Strategic Stakeholder

Management as the Theme All chapters use a strategic stakeholder approach as a unifying theme The text is thus the first text that adopts this approach Most business ethics scholars and practitioners agree that successful ethical companies are the ones that can strategically balance the needs of their various stakeholders By adopting this approach students will be able to see how the various aspects of business ethics are connected Theory based and Application based All chapters have important applicable theories integrated with discussion of how such theories apply in practice Unlike other texts that are either too theoretical or too practical this text provides the appropriate blend of theory and practice to provide deeper insights into the concepts covered in the chapter Global Perspective Unless most other texts this text provides a global perspective on business ethics Most chapters include material pertaining to ethics in global contexts Included are cases about companies in a wide range of countries including Japan U K China and India among many others Cases The text contains over 30 real world global cases Each chapter ends with a short two page case as well as a longer case that varies in length Each has discussions questions at the end Finally each of the four parts ends with a Comprehensive Case proven teaching cases from The Ivey School and other sources

Energy Michael B. McElroy, 2009-12-21 The book offers a comprehensive account of how the world evolved to its present state in which humans now exercise a powerful in many cases dominant influence for global environmental change It outlines the history that led to this position of dominance in particular the role played by our increasing reliance on fossil sources of energy on coal oil and natural gas and the problems that we are now forced to confront as a result of this history The concentration of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere is greater now than at any time over at least the past 650 000 years with prospects to increase over the next few decades to levels not seen since dinosaurs roamed the Earth 65 million years ago Comparable changes are evident also for methane and nitrous oxide and for a variety of other constituents of the atmosphere including species such as the ozone depleting chlorofluorocarbons for which there are no natural analogues Increases in the concentrations of so called greenhouse gases in the atmosphere are responsible for important changes in global and regional climate with consequences for the future of global society which though difficult to predict in detail are potentially catastrophic for a world poorly equipped to cope Changes of climate in the past were repetitively responsible for the demise of important civilizations These changes however were generally natural in origin in contrast to the changes now underway for which humans are directly responsible The challenge is to transition to a new energy economy in which fossil fuels will play a much smaller role We need as a matter of urgency to cut back on emissions of climate altering gases such as carbon dioxide while at the same time reducing our dependence on unreliable potentially disruptive though currently indispensable sources of energy such as oil the lifeblood of the global transportation system The book concludes with a discussion of options for a more sustainable energy future highlighting the potential for contributions from wind sun biomass geothermal and nuclear supplanting currently unsustainable reliance on coal oil and natural gas
