Parental Influence on Child Social and Emotional Functioning Xiaoqin Zhu, Diya Dou, Thanos Karatzias, Tan Tang, 2024-03-20 Social and emotional functioning, interpersonal interactions, social adjustment, emotional well-being, and mental health among children and adolescents has drawn growing attention from academics, practitioners, parents, educators, and policymakers. Worldwide, it is agreed that social and emotional development is a result of individual context interactions. Particularly, socialization perspectives regard parenting as the primary factor that shapes child and adolescent development to a large extent. Meanwhile, the ecological perspective highlights the bi-directional nature of interactions between children and parents by which they affect each other. Parenting can be parents' active socialization actions that influence their children's development (i.e., parent effect); it can also be parents' reactions to their children's social and emotional functioning (i.e., child effect).

The Power of Scale: A Global History Approach John Bodley, 2015-06-01 Throughout history, the natural human inclination to accumulate social power has led to growth and scale increases that benefit the few at the expense of the many. John Bodley looks at global history through the lens of power and scale theory and draws on history, economics, anthropology, and sociology to demonstrate how individuals have been the agents of social change, not social classes. Filled with tables and data to support his argument, this book considers how increases in scale necessarily lead to an increasingly small elite gaining disproportionate power, making democratic control more difficult to achieve and maintain.

Psychological Factors in Physical Education and Sport Manuel Gómez-López, Marianna Alesi, Carla Maria Chicau Costa Borrego, 2022-02-21

Reorientalism Nariman Skakov, 2025-10-28 It is commonly believed that Stalinism ended a vibrant period in Soviet avant-garde art and literature. The triumph of socialist realism in this view curtailed experimentation with aesthetic form and replaced it with a call for clarity, accessibility, and ideological conformity. But Stalin's formula, national in form, socialist in content, gave artists an opening for officially sanctioned formal innovation as long as it drew on the national cultures of the Soviet Union. Nariman Skakov offers a new way to understand Soviet modernism, showing how writers and artists looked to the East to renew avant garde experimentalism under Stalin He traces how figures such as Victor Shklovsky Aleksandr Rodchenko Varvara Stepanova Dziga Vertov and Sergei Eisenstein responded to the Soviet state s ideological demands by engaging with the traditions of the new socialist republics in Central Asia The concept of national form gave these artists a sanctuary for aesthetic innovation yet this experimentation relied on exoticization of the strangeness of the Soviet East and a fascination with ethnic others Recasting Soviet aesthetics from the vantage point of Central Asia Skakov rethinks orientalism and its relationship to socialism Challenging conventional narratives of the fate of the Soviet avant garde Reorientalism provides a deeply original decentering of modernism
