Psychological Assessment in South Africa Sumaya Laher, Kate Cockcroft, 2013-01-01 This book provides an overview of the research related to psychological assessment across South Africa. The thirty six chapters provide a combination of psychometric theory and practical assessment applications in order to combine the currently disparate research that has been conducted locally in this field. Existing South African texts on psychological assessment are predominantly academic textbooks that explain psychometric theory and provide brief descriptions of a few testing instruments. Psychological Assessment in South Africa provides in depth coverage of a range of areas within the broad field of psychological assessment including research conducted with various psychological instruments. The chapters critically interrogate the current Eurocentric and Western cultural hegemonic practices that dominate the field of psychological assessment. The book therefore has the potential to function both as an academic text for graduate students as well as a specialist resource for professionals including psychologists, psychometrists, remedial teachers and human resource practitioners.

THE EARLY GRADE READING ASSESSMENT Amber K. Gove, Anna Wetterberg, 2011-09-28 The Early Grade Reading Assessment (EGRA) measures students' progress towards reading. EGRA gauges early literacy skills through a 15 minute individual oral assessment of five fundamental reading skills. RTI worked with education experts to develop the EGRA in 2006 and it has been piloted and implemented in more than 40 countries. This volume aims to take stock of the substantial amount of information and experience generated through the use of EGRA and to share this knowledge with practitioners, policymakers and international donors. Chapters cover not only particular applications of the instrument but also put EGRA in the context of broader issues and developments in literacy and education.

The 22 revised full papers presented together with an extended abstract of a keynote paper were carefully reviewed and selected from 63 submissions. The papers are organized in topical sections on ICT students of a new generation, technology and gaming in nowadays education, educational cooperation with the ICT industry, computer programming education, ICT courses and curricula.

Systemic School Improvement Interventions in South Africa Godwin Khosa, 2014-04-14 Looking at two smaller scale systemic school improvement projects implemented in selected district circuits in the North West and Eastern Cape by partnerships between government, JET Education Services and private sector organisations, this book captures and reflects on the experiences of the practitioners involved. The Systemic School Improvement Model developed by JET to address an identified range of interconnected challenges at district, school, classroom and household level is made up of seven components. In reflecting on what worked and what did not in the implementation of these different components, the different chapters set out some of the practical lessons learnt which could be used to improve the design and implementation of similar education improvement projects Many of the lessons in this field that remain under recorded to date relate to the step by step processes followed the relationship dynamics encountered at different levels of the education system and the local realities confronting schools and districts in South Africa s rural areas Drawing on field data that is often not available to researchers the book endeavours to address this gap and record these lessons It is not intended to provide an academic review of the systemic school improvement projects It is presented rather to offer other development practitioners working to improve the quality of education in South African schools an understanding of some of the real practical and logistical challenges that arise and how these may be resolved to take further school improvement projects forward at a wider district provincial and national scale
