CHAPTER 2 BASIC COST MANAGEMENT CONCEPTS

DISCUSSION QUESTIONS

1. An accounting information system is a system consisting of interrelated manual and computer parts, using processes such as collecting, recording, classifying, summarizing, analyzing, and managing data to provide output information to users.
2. The financial accounting information system is primarily concerned with producing outputs for external users using well-specified economic events as inputs and processes that meet certain rules. The cost management system, on the other hand, produces outputs for internal users, and the criteria that govern inputs and processes are directly related to management objectives. As a result, the cost management system is more flexible than the financial system.
3. The three broad objectives of a cost management information system are: (1) to cost out products, services, and other cost objects; (2) to provide information for planning and control; and (3) to provide information for decision making.
4. The cost accounting information system is a cost management subsystem designed to assign costs to products, services, and other objects as management needs specify. The operational control information system is a cost management information subsystem designed to provide accurate and timely feedback concerning the performance of managers and others relative to their planning and control of activities.
5. A cost object is anything for which costs are measured and assigned. Examples include: activities, products, plants, and projects.
6. An activity is a basic unit of work performed within an organization. Examples include materials handling, inspection, purchasing, billing, and maintenance.
7. A direct cost is a cost that can be easily and accurately traced to a cost object. An indirect cost is a cost that cannot be easily and accurately traced to cost objects.
8. Traceability is the ability to assign a cost directly to a cost object in an economically
