and Barbie Zelizer Sounding Out Japan Richard Chenhall, Tamara Kohn, Carolyn S. Stevens, 2020-11-26 This book takes the reader on a sensory ethnographic tour in Japan and describes the many ways sounds seep into everyday experiences So many ethnographies describe local worlds with a deep attention to what is seen and what people say but with a limited understanding of the broader sonic environments that enrich and inform everyday life Through a focus on sounds both real and imagined the volume employs a critical ear to engage with a range of sonically enriched encounters including crosswalk melodies in streetscapes announcements and jingles at train stations water features in gardens dosimeters in nuclear affected zones sounds of training in music and martial arts halls and celebrations under blossoming cherry trees The authors use various analytic frames to understand the communicative and symbolic aspects of sounds and to sense the layers of historical meaning embodied action and affect associated with sonic environments Moravian Soundscapes Sarah Justina Eyerly, 2020-05-05 In Moravian Soundscapes Sarah Eyerly contends that the study of sound is integral to understanding the interactions between German Moravian missionaries and Native communities in early Pennsylvania In the mid 18th century when the frontier between settler and Native communities was a shifting spatial and cultural borderland sound mattered People listened carefully to each other and the world around them In Moravian communities cultures of hearing and listening encompassed and also superseded musical traditions such as song and hymnody Complex biophonic geophonic and anthrophonic acoustic environments or soundscapes characterized daily life in Moravian settlements such as Bethlehem Nain Gnadentown and Friedenshtten Through detailed analyses and historically informed recreations of Moravian communal environmental and religious soundscapes and their attendant hymn traditions Moravian Soundscapes explores how sounds musical and nonmusical human and nonhuman shaped the Moravians religious culture Combined with access to an interactive website that immerses the reader in mid 18th century Pennsylvania and framed with an autobiographical narrative Moravian Soundscapes recovers the roles of sound and music in Moravian communities and provides a road map for similar studies of other places and religious traditions in the future The Immersive Enclosure Paul Roquet, 2022-05-24 Winner 2023 Lewis Mumford Award for Outstanding Scholarship in the Ecology of Technics Media Ecology Association Although virtual reality promises to immerse a person in another world its true power lies in its ability to sever a person's spatial situatedness in this one This is especially clear in Japan where the VR headset has been embraced as a way to block off existing social environments and reroute perception into more malleable virtual platforms Is immersion just another name for enclosure In this groundbreaking analysis of virtual reality Paul Roquet uncovers how the technology is reshaping the politics of labor gender home and nation He examines how VR in Japan diverged from American militarism and techno utopian visions and became a tool for renegotiating personal space Individuals turned to the VR headset to immerse themselves in three dimensional worlds drawn from manga video games and genre literature The Japanese government promised VR operated robots would enable a new era of remote work targeting those who could not otherwise leave home

Middle aged men and corporate brands used VR to reimagine themselves through the virtual bodies of anime styled teenage girls At a time when digital platforms continue to encroach on everyday life The Immersive Enclosure takes a critical look at these attempts to jettison existing social realities and offers a bold new approach for understanding the media environments to come The Republican War on Science Chris Mooney,2007-03-16 Science has never been more crucial to deciding the political issues facing the country Yet science and scientists have less influence with the federal government than at any time since the Eisenhower administration In the White House and Congress today findings are reported in a politicized manner spun or distorted to fit the speaker s agenda or when they re too inconvenient ignored entirely On a broad array of issues stem cell research climate change missile defense abstinence education product safety environmental regulation and many others the Bush administration s positions fly in the face of overwhelming scientific consensus Federal science agencies once fiercely independent under both Republican and Democratic presidents are increasingly staffed by political appointees and fringe theorists who know industry lobbyists and evangelical activists far better than they know the science This is not unique to the Bush administration but it is largely a Republican phenomenon born of a conservative dislike of environmental health and safety regulation and at the extremes of evolution and legalized abortion In The Republican War on Science Chris Mooney ties together the disparate strands of the attack on science into a compelling and frightening account of our government s increasing unwillingness to distinguish between legitimate research and ideologically driven pseudoscience
